End nearing in slander suit Judge Scott to decide if Wojtkiewicz has lawyer

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The slander lawsuit filed by Antioch Twp. detective Ernie Rizzo against his neighbor, Sally Wojtkiewicz, may be coming to some kind of conclusion on Oct. 30.

According to Rizzo, last week Lake County Judge Charles Scott denied two motions for dismissal of the slander lawsuit made by Wojtkiewicz's attorney, Michael Cummins.

One motion claimed Rizzo is a public figure, and the other claimed the statutes of limitations had run out since the day of Rizzo's first slander claim.

Rizzo said he has filed only one complaint of slander against Wojtkiewicz and one against Cummins.

He said that Judge Scott asked for an amended complaint which states each specific "slanderous" incident be filed by Friday, Oct. 20. Rizzo said this could mean 25 separate complaints.

Cummins said his office will have to consider the new complaint. Also, on Friday, Oct. 20 the judge is expected to make a decision on Rizzo's motion that Cummins can not remain as Wojtkiewicz's lawyer because of being a co-defendant.

Cummins does not expect to be called off the case, but adds "this is up to the judge."

At present the trial that started with alleged slanderous statements made against Rizzo by Wojtkiewicz in 1987 is set to go to trial on Monday, Oct. 30.

Rizzo, who has won previous cases against the state of Illinois is acting as his own attorney.

Whether or not Wojtkiewicz will have Cummins defending her after he has handled her case for over two years, will be up to the judge on Friday.

Rizzo has claimed that slanderous statements made against him by Wojtkiewicz have hurt him in business and in his personal life.

ACHS 1989 graduate dies after accident

A June graduate of Antioch Community High School died Monday in a Milwaukee hospital from injuries sustained in a car crash early Sunday morning.

Steven G. Anderson, 18, of 22133 W. North Ave., was driving westbound on Grass Lake Rd when he apparently lost control of the 1987 Toyota Celica he was driving, drove into a ditch and struck a culvert pipe. He was alone in his car and police believe he was not wearing a seatbelt.

Anderson was airlifted by a Flight for Life helicopter to Froedtert Memorial Lutheran Hospital in Milwaukee.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, Oct. 21 at 11 a.m. at the United Methodist Church in Antioch. In lieu of flowers, Anderson's family has requested that donations be made to the Antioch or the Lake Villa Rescue Squad.

ACHS hosts regional tournaments

Antioch Community High School will be hosting both soccer and volleyball regionals next week.

The soccer semi-finals will take place at 3:30 p.m. on Oct. 24.

In volleyball, Grayslake and Antioch will square off in the first match at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 24 with Grant and Round Lake battling in the second match.

Ticket prices are $3 for adults, $2 for high school students and $1 for children.

Also, the high school has announced a change in the starting time of a football game. The season finale Oct. 28 will be at 11 a.m. for the sophomores and 1 p.m. for the varsity.

Scouting for food

OK child care plan

GURNEE—Some carrying children, all donned in pink "I'm in favor of Childfirst" buttons, backers of child care in Gurnee won a victory from the Gurnee Village Board Monday. The board, overturning an unfavorable recommendation and objections of neighbors, granted a conditional use permit for the facility at 475 N. O'Plaine Rd. The trustees did place several conditions on the special use permit, including: that a public hearing be held if the home or business is sold; that landscaping work be done; that a license from Dept. of Children and Family Services be obtained; that the hours be from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. five days a week. The Gurnee Village Hall was packed with supporters of Peggy Heinhold's facility and only a few neighbors voiced objections. At the Gurnee Plan Commission level, the situation was reversed as neighbors brought petitions opposing the facility, and the planners voted 4-1 to pass an unfavorable recommendation to the board. The area is zoned R-3 for single family residential. A child care facility is listed as a permitted use for the area.

Annexes farm

LINDENHURST—Lindenhurst trustees made an unprecedented move this week and annexed a 200.7-acre farm to the village's east in record time. The petition for annexation of the Howard J. Bonner farm was delivered to Village Hall last Friday. Three days later, a public hearing was held and the board voted unanimously on the annexation. The reason for the quick action is that the Lake County Forest Preserve Board is scheduled to vote Friday on annexing a 160-acre corridor for a trail to connect McDonald's Woods Forest Preserve on Lindenhurst's north side with the Fourth Lake Fenn property south of the village. The only feasible route is through Bonner's farm. Now, the forest preserve board will have to get the okay from Lindenhurst before the trail can go through.

Hockey stays

GRAYSLAKE—Gymnastics is out and hockey is in at Grayslake Community High School. For both sports, a kicker "for now" must be added onto those statements after action taken by the board of education at a recessed board meeting. The board, following the recommendations of Supt. Ted Van Dorn, voted to cancel gymnastics as an interscholastic sport for the 1989-90 school year but keep hockey. Hockey's status for the years beyond the next school year will be determined when the board begins to look at the next budget. Some 50 hockey players and parents gathered at GCHS to show support for the hockey program, which was put on the brink of cancellation at the board's last meeting.

Mourns death

LAKE VILLA—Lake Villa and its surrounding area is mourning the death of the township's fire chief who died after a traffic accident Sunday morning. Frank Slazes, Sr., the husband of Betty for 33 years and father of their six children, was killed in a head-on collision on Rte. 83 after another vehicle crossed the center line at 11 a.m. Sunday. Slazes dedicated his life to fire fighting. He was a full-time fireman in Skokie since 1964 and a volunteer fireman in Lake Villa since 1960. In 1986, Slazes was elected fire chief by his department. The accident occurred on Slazes' 54th birthday.

Bike trails planned

LIBERTYVILLE—Preliminary master plan for a bicycle trail system through and around the village was accepted this week by the Parks and Recreation Committee. Starting next year will be construction of trails connecting Carmel High School, Hawthorn Center and the Lake County system along the former North Shore railroad right of way and the Des Plaines River.

30 mph is too fast

MUNDELEIN—Reduction of speed limits on village streets to 25 miles per hour will be attempted using a unique state formula. Instead of costly traffic counts and surveys, the village board will utilize a numerical system that gives values to street intersections, driveway and alley openings. Trustee Jeffrey Hayes says there are at least "20 streets where this can be done."

Officials cautious

LAKE ZURICH—Lake Zurich officials are taking a wait and see attitude after a Lake County Judge ruled that part of the village's construction ban was unconstitutional. Associate Judge Wallace B. Dunn ruled last week that three developers, Lexington Homes, Portrait Homes and Town and Country Homes may continue construction of their subdivisions, but must be prepared to pay for damages that may result from the construction. Dunn's ruling came as a result of an injunction filed by the three developers against the ban.

Stops permits

VERNON HILLS—Vernon Hills Village Board has stopped issuing building permits to United Developers until the company repairs the existing homes in Hawthorn Club. After a year of meetings with the company and unhappy residents, the board decided to stop issuing permits. The board also agreed to seek assistance from the State Attorney General's office. Village trustee Richard Cashman said the State Attorney General's office will investigate consumer fraud of United Developers.

Tree replacement

GRAYSLAKE—The Grayslake Village Board has authorized an annual parkway tree replacement program. As in the past, the village will contribute 50 percent of the cost and the homeowner will contribute 50 percent. The only requirements are that the trees be planted by the homeowner in the parkway and the trees be Green Ash, Sugar Maple, Honey Locust or Norway Pine. For details, call the village hall at (312) 223-8161.

Plan Dept. leaves

LIBERTYVILLE—This month Assistant Director of Planning Greg Anderson started his third year as a village employee. Monday he gave two weeks notice to become director of urban planning with Thompson, Dyke and Associates of Northbrook. This leaves only a secretary in what was a three-member department until August. That is when the director resigned for reasons of health and age. Another planner followed. The village hopes to hire a replacement before Anderson leaves.

Rte. 53 main topic of public hearing

By CATHY VELASCO
Lakeland Newspapers

Businessmen and residents either favored or opposed an extension of Route 53 at a public hearing to explain the Lake County Transportation Study.

The three-year study doesn't include the extension of Route 53 to Interstate Highway 120 because the Lake County Board chose to omit Route 53 and only widen existing roads, said Marty Buehler, director of Transportation of Lake County.

However, some people disagree with the County and want the extension of Route 53 included in the transportation plan.

The current plan proposes to improve 17 miles of tollway, 142 miles of state roads, 60 miles of county roads and three miles of municipal roads. The total cost of the plan is $695 million, including $172 million for tollway construction, $174 million for new roadway and $346 million for existing roadway, Buehler said.

But the Village of Buffalo Grove would like to see some of those funds include an extension of Route 53. Lee Szymborski, assistant village manager for village of Buffalo Grove, said the extension of Route 53 was in the best interest of the village.

The Route 53 extension "is an important transportation element for safety and ease of transportation flow for the county," Szymborski said.

Opponents to the issue believe the extension will attract commercial businesses and only cause more congestion. But the Buffalo Grove Village Board believes "with close scrutiny of the area - it doesn't have to happen," Szymborski said.

The year 2005 transportation plan will ease congestion flow throughout the County but cause heartache to seven Arbor Vista home owners who would have to move for the 420 alignment. "It is unwise to take down that many homes when there is vacant land to the north. If Route 120 stays on its present bed there will be enough room for four lanes all the way to Route 83 and will swing around Grayslake," said Gail Alter, president of Arbor Vista Association.

Alter, also an environmentalist, said she opposes the extension of Route 53 because she moved away from the crowded suburbs to rural Lake County "and wants to keep it that way. People don't realize the impact it (Route 53) will have on the wetlands. It will destroy the wetlands and cause air and noise pollution," she said.

Buehler said the transportation committee will study the comments and finalize the study in November. The Lake County Board will then vote on the study, if the plan passes then state and local agencies will begin construction.

Slate makes race interesting

With the formation of a slate, it will be four against two in the Nov. 7 Fox Lake Grade School board of education election.

And the slate has the backing of former Mayor William Dam, who was appointed two months ago to fill a vacancy on the board. "Look, I've got the blisters to prove I'm working," exclaimed Dam after a work out putting up campaign signs.

Four four-year seats are up for election.

On the slate are Nancy E. Koske, Robert D. Sayles, John W. Rowe and Linda C. Usrey, Sayles currently serves as board president and Usrey is secretary.

That leaves Nancy A. Girard-Steichmann and Mark Kirste on the "outside."

The only thing smacking of an issue in the race is concern that election of Girard-Steichmann would be a conflict of interest because her husband is William Steichmann, a principal in the Fox Lake system.

Many mourn loss of L.Villa fire chief

by KIM BOLTON
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake Villa and the surrounding communities are mourning the tragic loss of a dedicated official, firefighter and family man this week.

Lake Villa Fire Chief Frank Slazes, Sr., 54, died of multiple injuries at 12:12 p.m. Sunday, one hour and 12 minutes after a head-on collision on Rte. 83, just north of Petite Lake Rd. He was married to Betty Slazes for 33 years and was the father of their six children, one of whom is a captain in the Lake Villa Fire Dept.

According to a Lake County Sheriff's report, Slazes was traveling northbound on Rte. 83 in his 1989 Dodge Aires when he was struck by a 1974 Chevy Malibu driven by Bobby Hemphill, 29, a resident of Allendale Assn. Home in Lake Villa. Hemphill had strayed several feet across the center line before hitting Slazes.

The two cars traveled together counter-clockwise and came to rest on the east shoulder. According to John Jansky, an accident investigator with the Lake County Sheriff's Dept., it took nearly an hour to remove the victims from their vehicles.

Both Slazes and Hemphill were transported to St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan where Slazes was pronounced dead. Hemphill was listed in good condition at press time.

Hemphill was charged with improper lane usage and posted a $50 bond. Chemical tests were not offered at the time of the accident.

Firefighting was a career for Slazes, who was killed on his birthday. He had been a full-time fireman in Skokie since his appointment there in 1964 and a volunteer in Lake Villa's Fire Dept. since 1960. Slazes was also a certified EMT and paramedic in Skokie.

In Skokie, Slazes was promoted in May 1971 to lieutenant and also to the Fire Prevention Bureau. In June of 1977 he was transferred to a fire company where he worked until his retirement in 1981.

In Lake Villa, Slazes's promotion in 1966 to chief engineer was only the beginning of many steps up which led to his election to fire chief in 1986.

William Smolarchuk, a lieutenant with the Lake Villa Fire Dept., said Slazes is going to be greatly missed by his department. He said everybody that knew Slazes "loved him for what he was."

"He was fair and honest with everybody," Smolarchuk said.

Antioch Fire Chief William Carney expressed his sadness over the loss of such a dedicated man. He said he and Slazes were appointed to their respective departments within a year of each other and that they have had 28 years of good relationships between the fire departments.

"Frank was a very knowledgeable chief of course."

"He's going to be missed in the fire service," Carney said.

A funeral service with participation by the Lake Villa Fire Dept. was held Wednesday at the Prince of Peace Church in Lake Villa.

Ruxton urges action on sprinkling system

by GERI MAJKOWSKI
Lakeland Newspapers

The Illinois State plumbing code has just changed for underground sprinkling systems. As of Sept. 11, the state requires that a licensed plumber work on sprinkling systems which have a built-in potential for adding chemicals to lawns. The reason for this, according to Mike Ruxton, is to prevent back-flow of these chemicals into the home, or into the city water system.

"A break in the water main, or any other drop in pressure could bring these deadly chemicals into the drinking water in your home. Right now, Antioch has no way of monitoring these installations," said Ruxton, superintendent of sewers and water in Antioch.

Holds forum

The Antioch School Dist. 34 Teachers' Assoc. is sponsoring a Board Candidates Night on Wednesday, Oct. 25, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the gym at the Antioch Upper Grade School.

The purpose of the meeting is to have the public meet the Nov. 7 candidates for the Board of Education.

Even the installation of a back-flow preventer valve needs the attention of a licensed plumber, according to the new state code. Ruxton urged action be taken on this issue without delay.

He also asked for and received permission to search for specifications for bids on televising the sewer system to search for seepage, root damage, and other blockages. Both in-use and abandoned laterals need attention.

Finally, on Sunday, Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. there will be an open house at the waste-water plant, with Mayor Robert Willon doing the honors.

Youth Soccer adds girls traveling team

by KIM BOLTON
Lakeland Newspapers

For the first time in the 10-year history of the Lindenhurst Youth Soccer League, an all-girls traveling team has been formed.

The team, coached by Wilma Wetzel and Dan Kwiatkowski, is comprised of girls age 13 and under who have been playing soccer on different teams in Lindenhurst's league for a number of years.

Putting together a traveling team has been a wish Wetzel has been hoping for, for several years.

"Every year I try to see if we can get the girls out and this year we did it," said Wetzel adding that she held a well-attended try-out for the team in June.

Sponsored by Lyons-Ryan Ford of Antioch, the team, called The Blitz (German for lightning), is part of the Illinois Women's Soccer Assn. The Blitz plays teams from Barrington, Naperville, Rockford and Glen Ellyn on Sundays at 1:30 p.m.

Wetzel's interest in soccer was piqued by her husband, Roland. Originally from Germany, Roland has been playing soccer since age 7.

The Wetzels, together with Hans Plattner, organized the Lindenhurst Soccer League 10 years ago. Since then, the league has grown from 120 boys in the first year to the current figure of 880 boys and girls from Lindenhurst, Lake Villa and Antioch. Two-hundred and eighty of that figure are girls.

The league currently has 52 in-house teams and nine traveling teams coached by 140 interested volunteers and parents.

Wetzel, who has been coaching soccer for eight years, said she had wanted to find more activity for girls in the area when she began recruiting them into the previously all-boys soccer league. She said the new traveling team gives the girls even tougher competition and makes them better players.

So far, the league has a record of 0-4, but Wetzel said "they're really coming around." She said the girls lost Sunday to Barrington, but was upset that a goal that would have tied the score to one all, was missed by the referee and didn't count.

The Blitz will be playing three more games at home on Oct. 8, 15, and 29 against Glen Ellyn, Naperville Park Dist. and Barrington respectively.

Wetzel now not only coaches, but referees as well. She says running with her own team helps keep her in shape.

"I think (soccer's) a healthy, organized sport," Wetzel said.

Cratty combatting drug, alcohol abuse at ACHS

Cathy Cratty has been named student assistance program coordinator for Antioch Community High School effective this school year 1989-90. This position was approved by the board of education after a presentation by the School Task Force in May.

Cratty has been a guidance counselor at ACHS for 10 years and has recently completed requirements for certification in substance abuse prevention through National College of Education.

Her plans for the Student Assistance Program for this year include finalizing the goals, philosophy and policy regarding substance abuse for ACHS which have been written by the task force.

There were presented to the board for approval at the Oct. 19 board meeting. Other goals include: to conduct a survey among fourth through 12 grades to measure how much use is happening among our students, to begin training, administration, faculty and staff in substance abuse prevention in order to be able to deal with this more effectively, to begin coordinating prevention efforts with local elementary schools, to offer education for parents in problem areas for preteens and teens, to establish more support groups in the high school, to apply for grants for Drug Free Monies available to schools, and to help coordinate community efforts in reference to substance abuse.

Engagement

Roy-Christiansen

David Roy of Antioch and Carole Roy of Gurnee announce the engagement of their daughter Deborah Lynne, to James Lawrence Christiansen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christiansen of Antioch.

The ceremony will take place in October at the United Protestant Church in Grayslake.

BUNIONS

Bunions are a progressive deformity, that begins with a mild bump at the base of the big toe. If left untreated the big toe deviates outward and destructive arthritic changes occur. If treated early, surgery may not be needed. If surgery is indicated it is not a disabling procedure. I utilize the Swiss Compression technique which prevents cast wear and the patient may walk that same day. Other advantages to this procedure are that surgery is performed on an outpatient basis and little or no time is missed from work.

Antioch H.S. Homecoming 1989

Successful weekend

The sun was certainly shining on Antioch last Saturday making Homecoming a great success. The varsity football team beat the Warren Blue Devils 16-8 giving themselves a spot to stay in the hunt for the playoffs. Clockwise, Blue Devil defenders have a tough time catching Glenn Graham; Mr. ACHS Rick Beattie beams after his coronation Wednesday night; Homecoming Queen Kristie Pomering and King Tom Groth have a lot to discuss after their coronation Saturday night; parade float Dreams Do Come True foreshadows Saturday's game; Class of 1964 rolls out in style; Miss Lindenhurst, 1989, Lynette Larsen rides in Saturday's parade.

Lizard profiles Dist. 34 candidate Waismann

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(312)395-5380

One again, I want to start the column off with an election reminder and another profile of an area school board candidate. The election, of course, is Tuesday, Nov. 7. Donna Waismann is a candidate for Antioch Grade School Dist. 34 who has been an Antioch area resident for the past six years.

She has been very active in the Antioch Lower Grade School PTO and is presently on the PTO executive board. Her daughter, Kristen is in the third grade at ALGS. Waismann is a clerical work, presently employed in the office at Ben Franklin. She takes a strong interest in her daughter's education and feels she has the time to devote to be an effective board member since she is employed on a part-time basis at the present time. Viking football

The answer to the question is "The Raiders." The question is "What Antioch Viking football team remains undefeated after five games?"

That's right, folks. Sunday, Oct. 8, was another victorious day for the Viking Raiders as they defeated the Viking Bears 21 to 7.

The Raiders offense racked up the points while the defense did another excellent job holding back their opponents.

As I type this, I am thinking about the upcoming game. The Raiders will be competing with another undefeated Viking team, namely the Seahawks. This is the first time this season the two teams will be pitted against each other, and will be the final game before the playoffs. I am sure it will make for a very interesting and intense match. Naturally, I will give you the result in next week's column.

The Viking Eagles defeated St. Mary's of Buffalo Grove 18-8. Bruce Davis made a long run on a punt return, and Adam Becker caught a 70-yard pass run. The last touchdown was made by Jamie English. Honorable mention goes to Chad Young and Neil Schmidt on defense, and the whole team should be commended for doing so well.

The Heavyweights lost to Highland Park 27-0, while the Lightweights defeated Highland Park 21-6. Highland Park was undefeated until this match with the Lightweights. So, it was quite a victory and a total team effort. Therefore, congratulations go to Jason Breene, Tim Brey, Rick Cerk, Ryan Daniels, Jim Dawe, Sid Drissel, Scott English, Tony Gardin, Bob Scroggin, Mike Gedville, Sean Grubb, Sean Hanrahan, Brian Hribar, Kent Ipsen, Cliff Moore, David Murphy, Jay Sanders and Jim Stevens. Also, congratulations to coaches Lee Loecher, Mark Fugett and Al Roth.

Happy October birthday to Sandy Chinn and her daughter, Cathy.

ACHS beauty contest

Oh, to be able to turn back the clock about 30 years and lose about 50 pounds. If I could do that, even for one night, I'd volunteer as one of the "female" escorts for the ACHS Male Beauty Contest. If you have never attended this annual high school event, I strongly suggest you do so next year and every year thereafter. It is truly a "fun" evening for both young and "old," for both participants and spectators.

First, the manly specimens file out for the swimsuit competition. One at a time, they took their positions center stage going into their various body building stances, and many of them actually had muscles.

Until you've seen about eight handsome, well built high school boys dressed in shorts and tutus doing a ballet routine to classical music, you haven't seen anything. They were hilarious. The other talent routines consisted of a striptease where the participants put their clothes on instead of taking them off, a rap routine and dance, and lip-synchs to music of the '50s. Each talent routine showed a lot of imagination, talent and hard work.

Hellos

I'd like to say hello to Millie Morenz, Jean Halting, Charlie Geist, Kim Stafford, Mary Bicanic and Renate Wlezien. Now, call me with those tidbits. Also, if you really read this column, Norma Rubash, give me a call to prove it!

Kiesgen, Schmidt support wetlands control ordinance

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

After looking at what environmental and flooding problems that might arise out of the proposed Lake Lure development in west Lake County, two county board members said they are solidly behind efforts to create a wetlands control ordinance.

"There's no more waiting. We have to act now," declared Dist. 4 Rep. Charlotte Kiesgen. "I'm going to lobby for passage of the ordinance. We're all in this together. People speaking out will be the key to getting the ordinance passed," Dist. 4 Rep. Suzi Schmidt told 175 persons at a rally to save the 300-acre wetland threatened by a Lexington Homes development.

Kiesgen and Schmidt spoke out at a rally to save the wetland, staged by the Long Lake Health and Sanitation Assn.

Robert Whyte, biologist with the Lake County Health Dept., described how the proposed ordinance, to be administered by the health department, will preserve environmentally sensitive wetlands.

Citing efforts to obtain a more simplified permit process, Whyte said the health department feels properly protected wetlands can coexist with urbanization. Whyte pointed to the huge Lake Lure wetlands area as a prime example of how nature provides a filtering process to protect Long Lake against pollution.

"This is the most important piece of legislation that could be passed to protect our wetlands," declared Dr. Sander Sundberg, a consulting marine biologist, who is also a Long Lake resident. Sundberg, a past association president, designed the present aeration system that has contributed to new heights of water quality after residents restored the lake after years of pollution from the Round Lake area.

Suzanne Harris, chairman of the association's legislative committee, said, "We are against destruction of wetlands. We are not against development, as such."

William Kercher, association president, reported that a massive petition effort is being conducted "upstream, west of Wilson Rd. and throughout the Wooster Lake area," to obtain signatures in support of adoption of the wetlands control ordinance, expected to come up for a county board vote in November.

Water on the way

About a year from now, water from Lake Michigan will start flowing toward 15 Lake County communities, 15 if voters in Lake Zurich approve a referendum Nov. 7 for membership in the Central Lake County Joint Action Water Agency. Lake Zurich voters will do themselves and future generations well by becoming part of this massive public works endeavor that has been talked about and worked on in various forms for 30 years.

From the groundbreaking in late September for the treatment plant west of Lake Bluff, it will take approximately 30 months for lake water to actually reach the current 14 member communities (plus Lake Zurich if the referendum carries) allowing for time to construct giant transmission lines. When completed, the Lake Michigan water distribution system will stand as one of the biggest public works projects in Lake County history.

Officials of the current member communities—Mundelein, Grayslake, Gurnee, Knollwood, Roundout, Lake Bluff, Libertyville, the entire Round Lake area, Vernon Hills and Wildwood—already are breathing easier. Voter approval next month in Lake Zurich will take a big load off the administration of new Mayor James Kay which has been working a hornet's nest of problems brought on by too rapid growth.

Hail the chief

Now that Bradley Univ. has retired its costumed Indian mascot and dropped its sports logo featuring a caricature of an Indian brave, we hope fervently that the Univ. of Illinois doesn't start tampering with Chief Illiniwek, the befeathered chief who embodies the Fighting Illini spirit and has electrified Illini sports fans for more than six decades with his war dances.

Bradley's mascot disappeared last season after a few faculty members complained that it was offensive and demeaning to native Americans. Bradley will keep its Braves nickname, but adopt a new logo featuring only a headband with feathers.

In recent years, social pressures have forced other schools incorporating Indian nicknames and symbols to seek other identities, most notably Stanford Univ. which became the Stanford Cardinal(s). Chief Illiniwek exemplifies dignity, strength and character, certainly laudable traits in any context. The men who portray Chief Illiniwek never have exposed the university's beloved and distinctive athletic figure to any blemish. May future sports crowds be able to thunder "Chief, Chief, Chief" as he makes his glorious entrance for years to come.

Welcome to Sears

Sears Roebuck and Co., a major factor in Lake County retailing for half a century, is destined to become an even bigger economic force with the growth and development of its business group headquarters at Riverwoods.

Philip Purcell, chairman and chief executive officer for Dean Witter Financial of Sears' financial enterprises, took occasion of grand opening festivities attended by Gov. James Thompson to note that the 599,000 square foot X-shaped headquarters complex was placed on the 77-acre site on Lake-Cook Rd. so that another building could be situated on the location—if the business insists on it.

Besides Dean Witter, the complex will be home for Discover Card Services, Inc., Sears Consumer Finance, Sears Payment Systems, Inc., and the Caldwell Banker Real Estate Group's Sears Mortgage Corp., Inc., plus being the daytime "home" for 1,700 workers that can accommodate at present as many as 2,100 employees.

Gov. Thompson compared the impact on the Illinois economy as the same as the opening of a factory with 2,000 jobs. The governor overstated his case a bit, as politicians are wont to do, because a large number of Riverwoods staff relocated from three buildings in Lincolnshire. But the governor got his point across about Sears' role.

An interesting sidelight to the event was that the grand opening was delayed until after the announcement in June of Sears' decision to keep its merchandise group in Illinois. In fact, there probably wouldn't have been any celebration at the $82-million facility if Sears had not decided to relocate merchandising to Hoffman Estates. But that's mere speculation.

So now Sears will be bigger than ever north, west and in the Loop—if Sears Tower isn't sold.

Without a doubt, the Lakeland area also will be the nighttime home of scores of Sears employees working at both corporate centers. Welcome, Sears. It's mighty nice to have you as a neighbor.

Time weighs ruling

With both sides claiming victory, as in the case of the Lake Zurich building ban because of sanitation shortcomings, the outcome sounds more like a political decision than justice.

An attorney for one of the builders involved in the moratorium on development greeted the decision of Circuit Court Judge Wallace B. Dunn with the pronouncement, "We will continue building."

Still, Judge Dunn's decision offers village officials with the courage to tackle developers head-on like the Lake Zurich trustees a ray of hope that there is corporate authority to halt building once it has begun if there is cause. And if public health and safety like an overloaded sewage treatment plants isn't cause, we don't know what is needed to curb hell bent development.

Even though the bonding requirement headed down by Judge Dunn really isn't much of a financial burden on big building companies, the case should give them pause to think twice about throwing up house after house with a "let the public be damned" attitude regarding general community welfare.

Time will tell whether Judge Dunn's decision was only "something for everyone" or much more profound.

Enhanced 911 up to voters next month

by BILL SCHROEDER
9-1-1.

Remember that number. You'll be hearing a lot about 911 in the next several weeks.

The three digits are the universal emergency services telephone number set aside by phone companies throughout the U.S. and Canada.

An expanded version of the emergency calling system known as Enhanced 911 has been proposed for all Lake County municipalities and unincorporated areas not already served by the more sophisticated system providing for automatic number identification, automatic location ID and selective routing.

Enhanced 911 is more costly for both start-up and operating costs, so voters will be asked Nov. 7 to approve a 75-cent-per-month surcharge added to their phone bills to pay for the additional service. Eight towns already have Enhanced 911.

Every police and fire chief I know of supports passage of the surcharge referendum. "I want Enhanced 911 available to everyone," asserted Sheriff Clinton Grinnell, Lake County's chief law enforcement officer.

In just about every case, police and fire officials believe Enhanced 911 will reduce response times from minutes to seconds and eliminate any possibility of dispatching snafus. "Without any doubt, we'll be saving lives with Enhanced 911," the sheriff stated.

County Clerk Linda Hess assured that every eligible voter will be given an opportunity to have a say on the surcharge question, where applicable. Where municipalities have opted to install individual systems, interface ties will be arranged. There won't be any holes in the system, Grinnell affirmed.

If the referendum passes next month, emergency telephone system boards will be formed to plan systems and work out inter-governmental agreements where necessary. The surcharge will be paid to the municipality or the county. The surcharge cannot exceed 75 cents.

Under Illinois Commerce Commission rules, if a municipality votes down Enhanced 911 and the county proposition passes, the municipality will come under county jurisdiction.

Officials have agreed that if the possibility arises of two surcharges applying, common sense will dictate that one of the charges will be eliminated.

What Enhanced 911 boils down to is an expenditure of $9 per year to ensure your household a virtually instantaneous link to help. You be the judge whether $9 is worth the price. I happen to think it is, so I'll be voting for Enhanced 911.

By the way, don't make the mistake (as I did recently) of referring to the emergency service as "nine eleven." Ouch! That brands you as a dolt. It's 9-1-1, and the way to go for safety and better living.

NO TEARS—Never did a long season end so abruptly. That was the lot of Cub fans this year. The '89 Cubs were a different group, all right. What other kind of team could inspire joy after the agony of defeat?

Winter is sure to speed by as we follow the progress of Andre Dawson's knee repair, the "aging" of Chicago's rookie corps and Jim Frey's efforts to bolster the squad with a veteran pitcher who can cope with playoff pressure and a seasoned hitter with ability to knock down distant fences.

Thanks to Manager Don "Slimmer" Zimmer for a wonderful summer. Good luck on your surgery, but whatever you do, don't change a thing during spring training. Let the Cubs bumble their way through the Cactus League so they'll be ready for 1990.

A year ago our family moved to Fremont Township. We had a daughter in first grade last year and we were so pleased with her education through the year.

We feel Fremont is a great school and has great surroundings. I enjoyed school when I was a student there, and I'm happy to be sending my children there.

Education is the greatest gift a child can receive in life, so let's make sure our children are given the opportunity.

Lakeland's OPINION

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

People I haven't heard from in weeks called to comment about my survey of telephone response times by local and county officials.

One of them was State's Atty. Fred Foreman. Actually, I hadn't heard from him in at least a week.

"My first advice to young lawyers is to return calls," said the man who practices what he preaches.

"You never know who is going to thumb through a phone book, spot your name and dial," Foreman continued. "It could be someone who just survived an airplane accident. That could be a $1-million case."

Don Mason may not be a household name in Lake County, but it is slowly becoming a political one.

Mason, 41, a one-time Lake County sheriff's deputy and now a private detective with offices in central Lake County, wants to be the next sheriff. He wants the job so bad his third try is coming up. Mason said he will run as a challenger to incumbent Clinton Grinnell in the spring Republican primary.

Mason ran as a Democrat in 1982 against Robert "Mickey" Babcox and said he came with four percent of winning. He withdrew from the 1986 Republican primary when a challenge was raised to his nominating petitions.

Mason likes to ride in squad cars. As a matter of fact, it was sitting in the back seat of one of them that got him in trouble with the powers to be. This led to his eventual retirement from county service.

Board sets Hemphill hearing

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Lakeland Newspapers

The plats and subs committee of the Grayslake Village Board will meet at 8 p.m. on Oct. 30 at the village hall to begin examination of a proposed subdivision of the Haryan Farm Property located at the southwest corner of Washington and Lake Sts. The land is also known as the Epstein property.

Trustees conducted a public hearing Monday on the proposed annexation of 77 acres of the Haryan Farm that is outside existing village limits. The property is proposed for use for single family homes on 10,000 square foot lots. "This is similar to West Trails zoning," Grayslake Village Manager Mike Ellis said.

There was no public comment at the hearing after a brief presentation by John Green, a vice president at Homes by Hemphill, one of the proposed developers of the property.

The village's zoning board has previously recommended that the Haryan Farm Property west of the Soo Line Railroad be zoned R-3B, a residential classification. The zoning board also recommended that property east of the Soo Line Railroad tracks remain zoned as R-2, a residential category that permits homes on 12,000 square foot lots. The zoning board denied a request by the developer for general business zoning.

Winchester employee union is put to test

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Unionized employees at Winchester House in Libertyville are lobbying for a new contract at the same time an election is pending to decertify the union. The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 2452, represents 280 of the 375 employees at the home for the aged.

Representatives of the union spoke at the Oct. 10 meeting of the County Board in support of their cause. Their remarks were accompanied by mailed press releases the day before and handouts at the meeting.

"We must understand the union's contract expires Nov. 30 and negotiations are underway at the same time the Illinois Labor Board is considering an election to decertify the union," board Chairman Norman Geary said. "We are bending over backwards to accommodate the union in allowing these remarks to be presented today." He noted the union's appearance before the board could be interpreted as an unfair labor practice.

The union representatives also protested the award of a certificate to Winchester House and 17 other departments at the meeting for holding the line on spending in the 1990 budget and limiting contact increases to four percent.

All three union speakers said a four percent wage increase is inadequate. They said salaries are already low.

"Winchester House is chronically understaffed," said Ruth Tipton, a union representative at the Libertyville facility. "Salaries are too low to attract and keep good people."

Winchester House Administrator Robert Roiland said there is a shortage of "one or two nurses aides in almost all nursing homes throughout Lake County." Most of the members in the Winchester union are in this occupation.

Tipton also went on to say the average starting pay of $7.50 per hour is inadequate. In her case, she said she is earning $7.68 an hour after nine years. A kitchen employee is paid $6.14 an hour after 13 years.

Roiland said wages and benefits are competitive with other nursing homes in Lake County. "We make regular surveys to determine this," he said. "Our total package is the best to be found," he said of benefits that include fully-paid medical coverage for the employee and their dependents, 12 paid holidays per year and a liberal vacation policy.

Tipton asked for a child care program as a way of retaining employees. She said there is more than ample room at Winchester House to provide this service.

James Hensgen, an employee of the Lake County Public Works Dept. and president of Local 2452, said DuPage County employees in his occupation receive 11 percent more than their counterparts in Lake County. He said profit-making water user and connection fees in Lake County go for pay raises.

There are 359 beds at Winchester House and a waiting list. Residents come from all townships in the county.

Hundreds show unity at LaCasa rally, march

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The chants could be heard in downtown Waukegan:

"What do we want?

"Safe streets.

"When do we want it?

"Now."

The marchers, some of them men, most women, some on baby buggies carried the message of "Take Back the Night"—a theme which the Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault (LaCasa) is using as a rallying cry.

The rally and march included a keynote speaker, Kathryn Johnson, author of the book, "If You Are Raped", as well as representatives from the Lake County State's Attorney's office, Waukegan Mayor Halg Paravonian and LaCasa advocate Phil Schneider.

"We have a community that cares," Paravonian stated.

"Since 1973, there has been a lot of progress," First Deputy State's Atty. Mike Waller said.

Waller said the state's attorney's office now has a victim and witness counseling division and is involved in training other police officers.

"The other night on the way to Wisconsin and when he found out that I was going to speak to this," he said, "is someone going to shoot you?" "Patty", a survivor of sexual assault, told the crowd at First United Methodist Church.

"Rape happens. It does not matter what color you are," she said.

Through the help of a recovery program, the victim stated: "I'm pretty on the inside now".

"It is my desire to treat all human beings as I would want to be treated - with care, kindness and compassion. Seeing the inequalities of our world, meeting the violence more directly than some, and having to confront related issues, I have experience profound and anger that has increased my personal understanding. Members of my family, close personal friends, have been victims of sexual assault. I have seen the realities of this violent crime and I now better understand the complexities of victims' responses and the impact on their lives," Schneider said.

He stated "this action must continue as a team effort. Men like me must be aware of the existence and the extent of the crime of sexual assault. We must understand the impact and the costs involved from the viewpoint of both victims and the root causes of this crime. Men are part of the issue and therefore part of the solution."

He urged women to develop awareness among men to assist in the understanding. "You must encourage to support one another, both men and women, to sustain our vital combined actions. We know sexual assault is a violent crime that affects all of us. Together, we must be aware, understand and act to stop it," he said.

"We really have made strides in support of victims," Johnson, a Grayslake resident, said.

"One thousand years ago, if a woman was raped outside of her area where she was legally supposed to go, her rapist came home to a hero's welcome and she was murdered, as a lesson to women everywhere, to stay put. Fifty years ago if a woman was raped she needed an eyewitness to prove her case in court. She also needed to prove that she fought back within an inch of her life using no more force that was used against her. Ten years ago, if a woman was raped, her sexual history was freely discussed in court. A rapist's sexual history was kept a secret," Johnson said.

State's are passing shield laws to protect victim's sexual past, she said.

Five years ago, women could be raped daily if the rapist was their husband. The states are now prosecuting these cases, the gathering was told.

"Thanks to legal changes, thanks to the fact hospitals are more supportive, police are more sensitive, I've had it said that 'rape is no different than any other crime'," she said.

A case last week which drew national attention threw a cloud on that theory, though, as Steven Lord of Fort Lauderdale, Florida was acquitted of sexual assault charges at knifepoint because as one juror put it, "in that skirt, she was obviously out for a good time. She asked for it".

"We don't say you asked to be burglarized when you buy a nice stereo. We don't say your looking to have a good time and have your car stolen when you buy a nice car. Rape is not at all treated like other crimes. Our job is not done at all. That's why we need nights like this," Johnson said.

Following the speeches, an information referral was held in the church and a proclamation posted.

High way impact fee body looks at $400

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Assessment of $400 to $500 per new home built in Lake County for highway and street improvements moved a step closer to reality this week.

The County Board approved formation of a 20-member Lake County Road Improvement Impact Fee Advisory Committee. When all members have been named, probably in two months, the body will recommend the amount and method of assessing new homes for the impact they create on adjoining highways and byways.

Enabling legislation was approved by the County Board last year for such an assessment. However, legislators in Springfield bowed to lobbying pressure from the development and real estate interest and ordered the formation of an advisory committee.

Twelve of the members are already in place as of two months ago with the naming by the County Board of the Municipal-County Cooperative Planning Committee. Its purpose is to achieve harmony in county-municipal matters.

County Board members are James Mitchell of Deerfield, John Balen of Waukegan, Sam Payne of Zion, Norman Geary of Grayslake, Carol Calabrese of Libertyville and Robert O'Reilly of Long Grove. Each represents one of the six County Board districts.

Municipal members, all mayors, are Marshall Strenger of Lake Forest, N. David Graf of Lake Bluff, Edward Tomkowiak of Wadsworth, Marvin Smith of Grayslake, Richard Welton of Gurnee and James Keagle. Each represents a corresponding County Board district.

Still to be named are eight other members. They are two to be named by the Illinois Association of Realtors, two to be named by a regional developer's association, two from to be named by the Lake County Homebuilder's Assn. and two to be named by the Lake County Building and Construction Trades Council.

McHenry Lock to close for winter Oct. 31

The McHenry Lock, located on the Fox River near McHenry, will close to all boat traffic for the winter season at 11:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Up until the closing date and time given, hours of operation for the lock will continue as before, namely, 8 a.m. to midnight seven days a week.

The closing date was chosen so that routine maintenance and preparations for winter can be accomplished before the onset of freezing weather.

Officials anticipate a timely opening in the spring of 1990, and look forward to another season of service to the boating public on the Fox River and Chain-O-Lakes.

The McHenry Lock is operated by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation's Div. of Water Resources, utilizing funds appropriated from the State Boating Act Fund. There is no charge for boats using the lock.

Boaters who use the Fox River/Chain-O-Lakes in Lake and McHenry Counties must display a current Chain-O-Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency sticker signifying that they have paid their user fee for the use of the waterway.

The Libertyville office of First United, Realtors posted a record third quarter in sales with an increase of 110 percent over the third quarter of 1988, reported Tom Kreuser, vice president and sales manager. Sales volume (sum of sale prices) was actually up 111.4 percent while the number of unit sales was up 105.64 percent for the local office. This is particularly significant since the overall industry is running about the same as in 1988.

The post office leased 7,825 square feet of the 112,807 square foot shopping center located at the northeast corner of Rtes. 12 and 176. A Nov. 1 opening is expected. According to Tanguay-Burke-Stratton's director of retail leasing, Richard E. Spinell, Liberty Square now is 85 percent leased. Other tenants include Jewel/Osco, Bressler's Ice Cream, Flipside Records, Hallmark, Designer Debut Boutique, Eurotan, and Subway Sandwiches.

Lincolnshire

Six new tenants have leased more than 58,500 square feet at Tri-State International Office Center, a 560,000 square foot development in Lincolnshire. Brisk leasing activity at Tri-State brings the project's Phase I occupancy to nearly 95 percent and Phase II's first building 25 to almost 65 percent pre-leased.

Tri-State is a five-building business park located on a 41-acre site on the southwest corner of Rte. 22 and the Tri-State Tollway. Phase I consists of buildings 100, 200 and 300, constructed between 1985, 1986 and 1987. Phase II includes building 25, completed in August, and building 75, scheduled for occupancy in the fall. The project is a joint venture between Hawthorn and New York Life Insurance Co.

Partners in success

Jeffrey Lovinger and Janet Gerald have owned Bernhardt's Bakery with locations in Libertyville, Antioch and Waukegan for just over a year. In their 30s, the partners are both younger than the business, which was started in the same location on Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, 45 years ago. Lovinger owns the building and he and Gerald, a 17-year veteran of the bakery business, go together when the business went up for sale last year. Above, the partners take time out of their busy days for a photo. Below, Gerald gives a cake decorating demonstration.—Photos by Pam Naslund.

Bernhardt's existed before its owners

Located in the heart of the Libertyville business district known as the Heritage Area, Bernhardt's Bakery has been in the same building for 45 years.

The business was started before the present owners were even born. Jeffrey Lovinger and Janet Gerald are both young entrepreneurs, in their 30s, working together in a partnership that was formed just over a year ago.

Janet was in the bakery business for 17 years and Jeff is the owner/manager of the Milwaukee Ave. building which houses the bakery. When it came up for sale last year, they melded their individual expertise into a successful management team.

In addition to retail sales, Bernhardt's caters the cakes, pastries and breads for a variety of affairs such as weddings and meetings at hotels, restaurants and banquet halls.

"We do all the sweets for a wedding," Jeff says, "including the cake, eclairs, cream puffs, Napoleon." The partners found it necessary to double the size of their bakery this last year, adding storage room and an air-conditioned "cake room," for assembling and decorating the elaborate desserts they cater.

Janet constructs the tiered wedding cakes in this special room since she is the business's "decorating expert." The cakes are baked a day ahead, and chilled to achieve the proper texture to stand up to "stacking." All the decorating is performed at the bakery, but the actual assembly—stacking on the pillars—is done after delivery to the reception hall.

During the spring summer wedding season, Bernhardt's produces 10 to 12 cakes per weekend. There was a record of 16 requests for wedding cakes one weekend. Janet smiled as she recalled, "That was the first weekend we were in business."

Jeff and Janet feel that quality and freshness set their products apart from ordinary baked goods.

"Everything we use is the finest quality ingredient you can buy," Jeff says. "We don't cut any corners by using bag mixes—everything is made from scratch on the premises from the freshest ingredients."

Out of season, fresh strawberries can get to be a problem. Jeff says, "No matter what it comes down to, or whatever we have to pay for them, we use fresh strawberries. We won't use frozen." The bakery's employees are frequently sent in search of strawberries at local supermarkets.

Bernhardt's employs 50 people, including the staff for their two newest locations. The shop in Waukegan on Glen Flora has been open just two months. Another bakery shop and ice cream parlor occupies a renovated and redecorated old home in Antioch and has been open for just four months.

Both new shops are doing well and taking a good deal of their time. Future plans may include opening up another shop next year, but for the present Jeff and Janet will concentrate on the three locations they have now.

Bernhardt's dedication to quality and freshness prohibits them from selling any product a day later. Baked goods which don't sell on a given day are donated to several area institutions, such as Winchester House on Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville, and the Allendale Assn. Home in Lake Villa.

The holiday season is approaching, during which the two partners and their staff expect to go crazy again. As many as 300 orders for bread, rolls, pies and cakes may come in for a holiday.

"Christmas and Thanksgiving are a zoo around here," Jeff says. Planning ahead and getting your orders in early will save wear and tear on your neighborhood bakers. And the search for strawberries goes on.

The Boat Show services recalls

The Marine Service Center at The Boat Show will be a key coordinator of the broad recall of boats powered with OMC's Cobra inboard-outboard engine, as announced under the U.S. Coast Guard recall campaign. The Marine Service Center at The Boat

Show in Gurnee is a specially appointed OMC representative to handle warranty and recall matters for that firm.

The problem causing the recall relates to shifting cables between the engine and the drive system. Occasionally there is not a complete shift due to a stretching of the cables, and in some instances gears may be damaged because of the incomplete shifting procedure. Some drive units of these Cobra systems will have to be taken off for gear inspection. The recall applied to all Cobra models from 1986 to 1989.

Alcatraz Island, the rock in the bay

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

It was home to Al Capone, Robert Stroud ("The Bird Man"), Machine Gun Kelly, and many other infamous criminals. But this ominous looking rock in the center of San Francisco Bay has a history going back well before its federal prison days of 1934 to 1963.

The location of Alcatraz Island at the entrance to the bay made it an ideal site for a military installation. The island was once surrounded by over 100 cannons aimed at those wanting to take the treasures the Gold Rush brought to this city.

Alcatraz today is part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area and is under the care of the National Park Service. To get to Alcatraz, look for Pier 41 at Fisherman's Wharf. The "Red and White" fleet operates a ferry to the island. The cost is $7.50, which includes the $2.50 rental fee of a tape player and tape for a self guided, narrated tour of the cellhouse.

The tape is narrated by former guards and inmates of Alcatraz. The sound effects that accompany the narration give you a very realistic feel of life in the prison.

My first surprise was how small the cells were. There was room for little more than a bed and a sink. This is where the inmates spent 23 hours a day!

I also learned that Robert Stroud, the "Birdman of Alcatraz," never had any birds at Alcatraz. He had canaries at Leavenworth, and his actual nickname was "the bird doctor of Leavenworth." At Alcatraz, he was a very unruly prisoner and spent most of his time in solitary confinement.

In fact, most of the inmates of Alcatraz were sent there not for their crimes, but for their disruptive behavior at other prisons.

The prison was closed in 1963 due to the expense of operating an island prison, and political pressures due to the absence of a rehabilitation program.

Insurance selection confuses buyers

by DONALD CRAMPTON

There is no question, in my mind, that one of the most confusing financial decisions faced by most people at some point in their lives is the selection of a life insurance product that most-effectively meets their needs.

Too often, the uninitiated insurance buyer, in the face of this complexity, opts to buy that which is cheapest or a policy vigorously pushed by an aggressive agent or broker.

In either case, the very personal circumstances of any individual are simply not taken properly into account. Instead, they are too often slightly in favor of a simplistic or "canned" purchase which ignores or fails to meet very real personal needs.

How can this trap be avoided? The first step is to realize that, as one considering the purchase of life insurance, you are responsible for deciding how much and what kind of life insurance to buy. No one else can decide how much insurance you need, what kind it should be, from what company it should be purchased, or how much to pay for it.

That being the case, here is a framework within which to evaluate all of the insurance product information that is available to you and arrive at a sensible and effective decision.

Identify and write down your objectives

For how long do you wish to maintain insurance coverage and for what purpose(s)? Is the purpose to protect against an untimely death? Is it to build a retirement fund? Is it to provide funds for children's educations or to conserve your estate? Some combination of these? No amount of product study can replace your determining in advance what it is you want for housing, food, education, all of life's necessities and, if you wish, some of its luxuries, as well.

Evaluate the timing of the purpose of the insurance purchase changes. And don't forget, a single purchase may be able to meet more than one of these objectives.

As life insurance costs money, based on your objectives, how much can you afford to spend or do you want to spend? These numbers are rarely the same.

But, if your objectives are clearly thought out, the process of reconciling them to something manageable is not all that difficult. Why? Because you can decide which of your objectives (properly the ones least important to you) must be achieved now and which should be deferred.

Understand your risk tolerances

Not all life insurance is the same. Term insurance, whole life (in all its forms), universal life, variable life and variable universal life are very different commodities. Each includes some elements of risk - and offers potential rewards.

For example, ask your agent if the premium she/he is quoting is guaranteed, or not. Ask to what extent the cash values are dependent on unstated interest assumptions, mortality expense, or dividend projections. Is the policy under consideration unduly (for you) influenced by stock market fluctuations? Marketers of life insurance make a practice of de-emphasizing the risks and highlighting the rewards of all these products.

This Way to Wealth

to achieve through the purchase of life insurance.

If you are trying to achieve several objectives at once, it is necessary to establish the priority of each. For example, the provision of family death benefits may be of greater importance than enhancing retirement income. And neither of these may be as important as a third objective, such as leaving an estate to your children. This ranking of priorities is key and only you can do it. How much is enough life insurance

If your principal objective is acquiring necessary death protection, for your family's benefit or for other perfectly reasonable purposes, quantify how much you need. This can be done easily by assessing your beneficiary's financial needs those needs. Are they near at hand or far in the future? Determine the amount of money your family would need right now in order to pay all these expenses if you were to die today. Remember to account for future interest earnings on this sum.

From the amount that your family would need right now, subtract all of the funds that would be available from your current assets, such as checking and savings accounts, retirement plan funds, etc. The difference may well represent the amount of life insurance you should have.

The same process can be employed when evaluating insurance needs for education, estate conservation purposes, for liquidating debts or making charitable bequests. Only

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

You may not be familiar with the term "inverted yield curve." Simply put, an inverted yield curve results when short-term interest rates are higher than long-term rates. Usually, the longer your money is at risk, the more you are compensated. So, normally the yield curve rises as maturities lengthen.

Inverted yield curves aren't common, and economists don't agree on what they mean. Some believe an inverted yield curve indicates a recession.

If the inverted yield curve does indicate that rates are at a peak, investing in long-term bonds could mean years of locked-in, high income and appreciation in the value of bonds. For those who don't believe that rates are topping out, high-interest money market funds provide a safe haven for money that can gradually be moved into long-term securities.

Of course, an investor could purchase long-term bonds and, at the same time, hold cash. The best way to lose, however, is to do nothing.

Even higher if rates go up

Buying a CD often means guessing whether rates are going up or down. Few investors want to tie up funds if rates will be going up in a month or so.

Home Federal has a solution and it's called the Jump Up CD. If rates rise, you can tell us to jump your rate - up to one full percent!

Open a Jump Up CD and receive our already high rate on a 14-month CD. Plus, you'll receive a coupon redeemable for an even higher rate - up to one full point - anytime our rates rise to that point during the life of the CD. For example, if our rates increase 1/2%, you may redeem your coupon for an extra 1/2% or you may wait until the rates rise even higher before redeeming. Whenever you act, you'll receive the higher rate until maturity.

It's our way of ensuring that no matter which direction interest rates move, you'll always earn a high, high rate.

Jump Up CDs may be opened with as little as $2500. Visit any Home Federal office for details or call 244-0880 for further information.

Dr. Gary L. Rippberger,

LOSS OF SENSITIVITY

Impairment of nerves in the foot is one condition that is particularly troubling to diabetics.

The medical term for this condition is diabetic neuropathy, which can cause a loss of sensitivity so that the person is unable to feel pain, heat or cold. Serious infections can develop without the individual feeling the usual painful warning signs. Also, people with this condition must learn to take precautions, such as not plunging a foot into hot bath water without testing it first.

When there is insensitivity, the diabetic or a family member should inspect the feet daily to detect any infections or other developing problems that otherwise would go unnoticed. More frequent checkups by the podiatrist are in order too.

One piece flame-retention burner head. Highly stable and intense combustion increases efficiency by as much as 35 percent.

DRIVE MOTOR
Continuous duty, split phase motor, built for daily hard use and years of trouble free operation. Has overload protection.

IGNITION TRANSFORMER
10,000 volts, and 23 milliamperes positively and smoothly ignites fuel. Electrically balanced and shielded. No TV interference. Designed for heavy duty continuous operation.

CONNECTOR TUBE FITTING
Special Beckett high quality flame fitting.

BURNER HOUSING
Sturdy die cast, precision machined aluminum housing, robust pump and motor for smoothest operation and longest coupling life.

Your savings in fuel costs may range up to 35% a year with a new Beckett replacement oil burner.

Based on millions of installations, 20% savings can be expected. Savings of 35% or more per year in fuel costs are not unusual. The dollar figures given here are an average, but could vary, up or down, based on local conditions.

If a homeowner uses 1,200 gallons of fuel oil at 1.00 per gallon, the total cost is $1,200.

A 20% savings reduces annual costs to $960, or $240 savings the first year.

Over a 15 year period, that could be a savings of $3,600.

And at 35% the savings would be $6,300.

FALL & WINTER CAR CARE

CAR'S BATTERY POWER DROPS with MERCURY

Safe steps for jump starting battery

The automobile battery need not be a source of anxiety. Knowledge of simple and safe steps for jump-starting the battery is essential for motorists concerned about winter car care.

Several precautionary measures should be followed when jump-starting a battery. Position vehicles so that they do not touch each other. Check to see that both batteries are of the same voltage.

Turn off both vehicles' engines. Set the parking brakes on each vehicle. Place automatic transmission in park, standard transmissions in neutral.

Be sure vent caps are tight and level. Place a damp cloth over the vents of both batteries. With safety precautions taken care of, the stalled battery is ready for jump-starting.

1. Connect positive (+) booster cable to positive post of dead battery. (The positive post is wired to the starter or solenoid).

2. Connect other end of same cable to same marked post (positive) of booster battery.

3. Connect second booster cable (negative) to other post of booster battery.

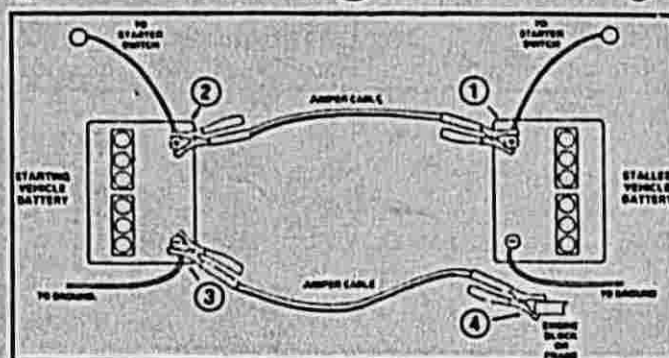

4. Make final booster cable connection on engine block of stalled vehicle away from battery.

5. Start the booster vehicle and let it run for a few minutes.

6. Start the disabled vehicle, then remove cables in reverse order of connection.

Further safety precautions should be followed when working on or in the vicinity of the automotive.

•Whenever you work near a battery, protect your eyes with safety goggles.

•Never light a match or smoke when working under the hood of a car.

•Be careful that metallic objects such as tools do not fall on battery terminals.

This could cause sparks, leading to a battery explosion.

•Never lean over the battery during the charging, testing or jump-starting.

Lakeland's Fall and Winter Car Care Guide

Avoid repair bills, get car ready for winter

The temperature's beginning to drop, and in some places, leaves are about to begin their change to autumn hues.

That means it's time to take a few moments and spend a little money now to avoid long hours of inconvenience and a big repair bill later in the winter when driving's less fun than it has been for the past several months.

Here are some tips for getting your car into shape before the first leaves fall:

Have the cooling system flushed if it hasn't been in the last two years. Cleaning the system and replacing antifreeze in the fall helps the car run smoothly in the winter. If the cooling system has been flushed in the last two years, have the potency of the antifreeze checked.

Inspect the battery terminals and clean them if necessary. Be sure the battery has a good charge.

Be sure your vehicle is properly tuned. A well-tuned engine starts easier in lousy weather and runs better than a poorly tuned engine.

Check windshield wiper blades and switch to heavy-duty ones if driving in snow and ice is anticipated.

Get an oil change. It only takes a few minutes, and many businesses will check levels of other fluids in the vehicle at the same time.

During winter, frequently check the level of windshield washer fluid.

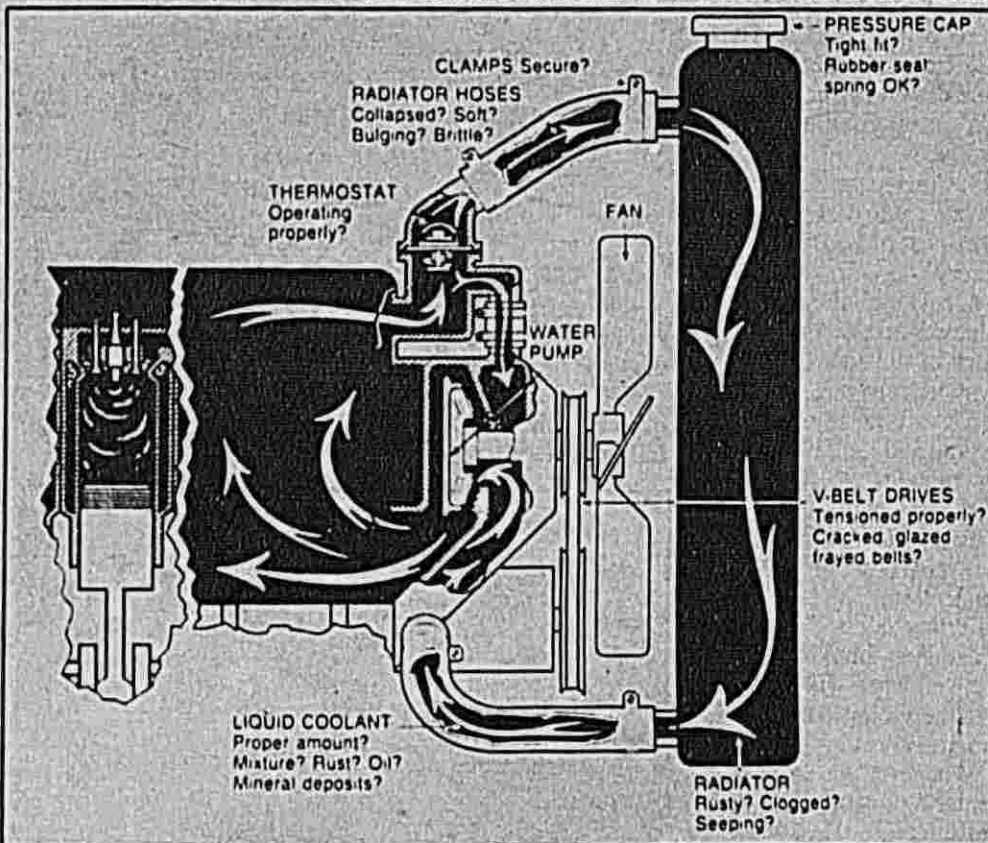

Before cold weather sets in, check the heater's operation. It may get a little warm for a moment or two now, but that's better than starting a long trip in freezing temperatures and finding there's going to be no heat for you and your passengers.

Inspect tires for tread depth and uneven wear.

Frequently check inflation pressure.

Check the brakes, and remember that cold weather snow and ice increase stopping distances. (AP)-

Lakeland's Fall and Winter Car Care Guide

How knowledgeable are you about your vehicle?

The best drivers are those who are most conscientious about the upkeep of their cars. These usually are the people who are most knowledgeable about their vehicles. Here are some multiple choice questions about cars and car ownership. See how many you get right.

1. How far should your headlights project for safe driving?
a) 200 ft.
b) 300 ft.
c) 400 ft.
d) none of the above
2. When your car burns oil it usually is because of:
a) worn piston rings
b) fouled spark plugs
c) worn valve guides
d) all of the above
3. Aunt Minnie is a city dweller commuting 3 miles to work. She has driven less than 6,000 miles in two years. Based on that kind of use Minnie should change the oil at:

- a) 10,000 miles
 - b) 8,000 miles
 - c) 6,000 miles
 - d) none of the above
4. Some 1989 cars are equipped with:
a) no distributor
b) no carburetor
c) no shock absorbers
d) no fan belt
e) all of the above are correct
 5. A clunking sound from the front of your front-wheel drive car forewarns you of pending failure of:
a) the fan clutch
b) a CV joint
c) a brake hose
d) all of the above
 6. You're in a snow bank. The best way to get out is to:

- a) "rev" up the engine while shifting rapidly back and forth between DRIVE and REVERSE in order to "rock" the car free
- b) allow the wheel that's lost traction to spin fast enough to melt the ice
- c) deflate the tires for added traction
- d) all of the above

7. You waited too long to replace a leaking radiator hose and lost a lot of coolant. Overheating damaged the:

- a) radiator
- b) transmission
- c) exhaust system
- d) all of the above
- e) none of the above

8. Radiator fans on many new cars are powered by:

- a) electricity
 - b) wind
 - c) water pump pressure
9. You see a small puddle of brake fluid at the right front wheel. You check the fluid reservoir and find it's only half full. You should:
a) add a thicker grade of brake fluid
b) add fluid and have the system inspected for leaks
c) install new brake linings
d) all of the above
 10. Night driving requires special caution. After dark the fatal accident rate:
a) doubles
b) triples
c) quadruples

ANSWERS
1. (b) is correct. Improperly adjusted headlights can be dangerous.
2. (a) and (c) are correct. Oil burning generally leads to fouled spark plugs, but it is not the cause. Regular oil and filter changes help keep your engine from becoming an oil burner.
3. (d) is correct. Aunt Minnie's type of driving is considered "severe" service, requiring more frequent maintenance intervals. Correct answer would be 3,000 miles.
4. (e) is correct. Thanks to technology cars, paradoxically, are more complex in some respects but simpler in others.
5. (b) is correct. Front wheel drive cars have several of these CV joints, covered with protective rubber boots to keep grease in and dirt out. They should be inspected periodically and serviced as needed.
6. (e) is correct. Rocking the car as described in (a) could damage the transmission. Do it gently.
7. (b) is correct. The automatic transmission is cooled by the engine cooling system. Severe overheating could damage both the engine and the transmission.
8. (a) is correct. Electric radiator fans save space and fuel.
9. (b) is correct. Investigate leaking brake fluid at once.

ANSWERS
1. (b) is correct. Improperly adjusted headlights can be dangerous.
2. (a) and (c) are correct. Oil burning generally leads to fouled spark plugs, but it is not the cause. Regular oil and filter changes help keep your engine from becoming an oil burner.
3. (d) is correct. Aunt Minnie's type of driving is considered "severe" service, requiring more frequent maintenance intervals. Correct answer would be 3,000 miles.
4. (e) is correct. Thanks to technology cars, paradoxically, are more complex in some respects but simpler in others.
5. (b) is correct. Front wheel drive cars have several of these CV joints, covered with protective rubber boots to keep grease in and dirt out. They should be inspected periodically and serviced as needed.
6. (e) is correct. Rocking the car as described in (a) could damage the transmission. Do it gently.
7. (b) is correct. The automatic transmission is cooled by the engine cooling system. Severe overheating could damage both the engine and the transmission.
8. (a) is correct. Electric radiator fans save space and fuel.
9. (b) is correct. Investigate leaking brake fluid at once.
10. (b) is correct. Check lights and windshield wipers; be sure you can see and be seen. Slow down after dark.

Lakeland's Fall and Winter Car Care Guide

Travel well equipped during winter months

It's time to get your car ready for winter, and that includes what you carry in your car or truck.

In addition to what's under the hood, drivers need to think about gear to cope with a stalled or stuck car in bad weather.

Here are some tips for coping with a blizzard, before and after leaving the garage:

— Keep at least a quarter if a tank of fuel in the car, refilling it frequently. Besides providing fuel to keep the car's heater in operation while waiting for help, more fuel in the tank reduces chances for condensed moisture to get into the fuel system, making starting tough and running rough.

— Let some fresh air into the car if you are stuck. Even though lowering a window a bit lets in a blast of frigid air, it helps remove deadly carbon monoxide and other gases from the car's interior. Those gases can build up if a heater is operated while the car is stuck and windows are rolled up tightly.

— Stay in your vehicle. It protects you from the weather and is easier for others to find.

— Stay awake. Do not allow all the people in the vehicle to sleep at the same time.

— Turn on the car's dome light at night. It helps makes your vehicle visible in darkness.

— Keep a well-stocked first-aid kit, a flashlight with new batteries, a windshield scraper and brush, jumper cables and blankets or a sleeping bag in your vehicle.

— Take special things for trips in remote areas where especially severe weather is possible. That can include a shovel, paper towels, a sack of sand, a fire extinguisher and tow chains.

— Be sure you know how to operate jumper cables.

Here's how:

Move one vehicle close enough to the other, without touching, so the cables can reach between batteries without being taut.

Turn off both engines.

Connect one end of the red jumper cable to the positive terminal on one battery and then the other end to the positive terminal on the other battery. Clamp one end of the black cable to the negative terminal on the good battery. Connect the other end of the black cable to the engine block of the vehicle with the bad battery, being sure it's away from the fan.

Start the vehicle with the good battery, then the vehicle with the bad one. Disconnect the cables in reverse order of connection. (AP)

Purchase Power

Be smart, read tires before purchasing

Read any good tires lately?

OK, so the sides of tires aren't the most compelling reading. They still provide a lot of information that can help consumers be sure they have the right tires on their cars or trucks.

All the words, letters and numbers on the sides of tires can be as easy to follow as the family tree in "Wuthering Heights" for a typical consumer.

Each tire carries the manufacturer's name and registered name of the model of tire. Usually that's in big letters, sometimes in raised white letters. That's easy to understand.

A little more difficult, perhaps, but also in large print, is the size designation. This can start with a "P" for passenger tires or "LT" for light truck. Then there are three numbers — the tire's width in millimeters.

After a slash, there are two other numbers, representing the height of the tire from the tread surface to the rim, measured as a percentage of the tire's width — for example, 75. The letter "R" for radial, "B" for bias belted or "D" for bias only tires follows to indicate the design of the tire. After that is a two-digit number showing the size of the wheel it fits, measured in inches.

Continuing along that line are designations of whether the tire meets the Tire and Rim Association's snow and mud specifications, noted by the letters, appropriately, "M&S."

The last bits of information closest to the tread are ratings for tread wear, traction and temperature.

Tread wear is rated by a three-digit number, with 100 as a base. For example, a tire with a "340" rating will last 3.4 times longer than a tire with a 100 rating under the same driving conditions.

Traction is rated on an A-B-C scale with A being the best traction at 40 mph on a wet surface. Temperature ratings also are on an A-B-C scale with A being the most-resistant to the effects of temperature at 85 mph.

Now the fine print comes in. Nearly all of the rest of the information is printed on the tire nearest the wheel rim.

The longest section involves tire safety warnings about inflation, and what can happen if a tire is underinflated or overinflated.

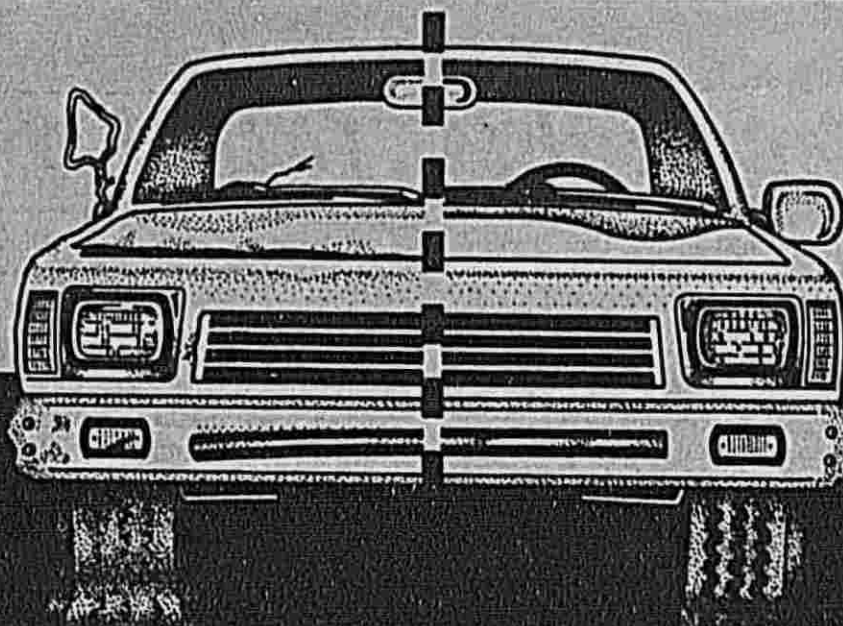

There are descriptions of what the tire is made of, its design, the number of plies in the tread and sidewall, whether the tire needs a tube or not and the loads the tire can handle.

Also on the side of tire is the recommended pressure when the tire is cold. That information often is carried in booklets that come with the car.

Much of that information is required by law.

Other information not required in the U.S. but included are markings for Common Market countries. The code includes references to load capacity, speed, the country giving approval and the tire size and type, all in letters and numbers.

All the numbers may not be easy reading, but following the manufacturer's recommendations in inflation and care can prolong the life of a tire. (AP)

Lakeland's Fall and Winter Car Care Guide

Headlights fulfill two vital functions

Auto headlights serve two vital safety functions for night driving. They allow motorists to see and to be seen.

More than 60 percent of all automobile accidents occur at night, even though most travel takes place during the day.

According to experts, nearly 40 percent occur between 10 p.m. and 4 a.m. Further, one third of all highway fatalities happen between 6 p.m. Friday and 6 a.m. Saturday.

These frightening statistics underscore the importance of your car's greatest nighttime safety feature, efficient and well-adjusted headlights.

A motorist can put more light on the road by using halogen headlamps. These lamps are twice as bright as conventional headlamps and deliver a distinctively whiter light, enabling the driver to see 25 percent farther down the road.

Halogen headlamps come in all the popular headlamp sizes and may be easily substituted for conventional headlamps. If you have a burned-out headlight, or your headlights are more than three years old, consider replacing the entire set with halogen lamps and then check to see if they are correctly aimed.

Improperly-adjusted headlights can be as much of a safety hazard as those that don't work at all.

For example, headlights that are aimed just one-half degree too low will reduce seeing distance by 50 percent! Headlamps set a full degree to low cut the seeing distance by 75 percent. Headlights that are directed too high are also less effective and can "blind" oncoming drivers.

Headlight adjustment is an easy task that requires only 35 to 40 feet of flat (or constantly sloping) driveway in front of a garage door or wall. These tips can help you check your car's headlight alignment.

•At dusk, shine your low beams onto a garage door or wall two or three feet away.

•Make horizontal marks on the top edges of the bright spot on the door. (use a soft pencil or tape).

•Move the car about 25 feet straight back from the garage door or wall. The top of the low beams should shine no higher than the marks on the door or wall.

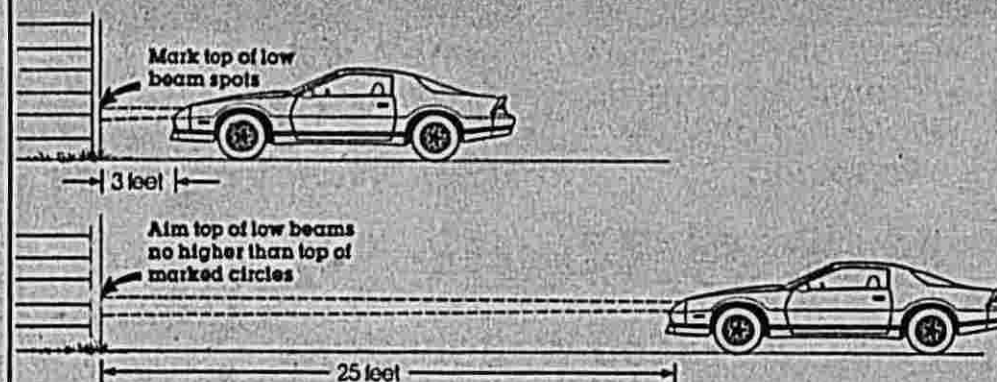

•Make the necessary adjustments. On most cars, each headlight has two screws that move the beam up or down and left or right. These are visible without removing any hardware.

•If your car has two headlights, the high beams are automatically aimed when you adjust the low beams. If the car has four headlights, adjust the low beams first (the outer or upper of the sets). The adjust the high beams so that the centers of those beams are at the top edge of the low beams.

This "garage door" method of aiming headlights is only a rough check and should not substitute for a headlight aiming by professionals with accurate equipment.

Aiming Your Own Headlamps

To aim headlights, mark low-beam spots on a wall at 3 feet. Back up 25 feet and properly line up beams at the top of the marks. Replace burned-out headlights with brighter halogen lamps.

Be careful when cleaning

by FREDERICK STANDISH

Some windshields can melt an icy coating, cut the sun's glare or resist shattering when rocks hit them at 50 mph.

But there's one thing common to all windshields, and it can interfere with driving: dirt.

But cleaning windshields may cause long-term problems if it isn't done properly, says a Fairleigh Dickinson University professor.

Oswald Haase, who teaches physics at the Rutherford, N.J., school, has studied windshield wear and how light is diffused by the grooves and pits left behind by dirt or flying pebbles.

Windshield washers and wiper blades may take away some dirt, but the abrasion may leave behind scratches that can cause problems down the road.

"They help you see in the short run, but louse it up in the long run," Haase says.

The research, done during the last four years in Sweden and Cologne, West Germany, showed scratches and pits caused significant vision problems in less than 2 percent of the windshields tested, while dirt accounted for serious problems in about 25 percent.

He says it isn't clear yet if recent automobile design trends making windshields less vertical will help move dirt and small objects over the car or if longer wiper blades needed by larger windshields will hurt.

"The fact that the windshield is tilted is good. You have to get a better windshield washer," he says.

MURPHY

FLOOR PLAN

PLAN # 299-02

Elk nibbling clover in the front yard at dawn. Trout broaching the lake's surface in shimmering contortions. Home owners bedding down to a duet of hoot owls and crickets.

These are a few sights, sounds and smells of the wilderness brought to you compliments of the no-nonsense Murphy, a practical mountain hideaway designed by guest architect George Bunzer of Murphy, North Carolina.

From its living room and dining room to its screened front porch, the Murphy blends urban comforts with wilderness musts. This city-country mix makes it a cinch for any city slicker to slip into a Jeremiah Johnson alter ego every weekend.

For a retired couple with more time, this weekend getaway easily ranks as a permanent address, owing to its three bedrooms and ample living space for two. Creature comforts like washer-dryer, an eating bar and twin kitchen sinks help seniors call this place home.

The no-frills exterior belies the economy of space inside.

Outdoor enthusiasts, who, if lucky, are often laden with the catch of the day, take heart in the Murphy's entrance - it leads right to the kitchen. Dripping trout quickly become sauteed almondine with little mess or fuss.

Meanwhile, wet fishing gear and other messy outdoor trappings - like skis - are left on the screened front porch before entering the house.

The simple rectangular lay-out makes for an easy guided tour. All shared areas - kitchen, bathroom, living and dining rooms - occupy the middle. Nearly equal-sized bedrooms line either side like bookends. In a touch of tasteful discretion, the master suite sits by itself on the right side.

Also, guests do not need to disarm themselves, piling all hunting, fishing or skiing gear into one heap on the screened porch. That's just begging for a mix-up.

Instead, each bedroom sports big closets, capable of storing any matter of gear, from fly fishing poles to bird

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By Joyce Jillson

Weekly Tip: Make the most of Sunday, because the rest of the week is jumpy, uncertain, circumstantially tense.

Aries (March 21-April 19) The week gets off to a slow start for you; be patient in all things. By Tuesday you have important information to handle.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Sunday is a good day - full of relaxing and sensual rejuvenation. Monday's energy still favors you, but don't push for tangible results.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) Tuesday is the genuine beginning of your week. Be patient and learn how to share with others.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) Easy-going Taurus energy on Sunday is perfect for you. You could do worse than to love a Taurus.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Your public image matters this week, and stubbornness could bring you bad press. Friends worry you on Tuesday; help if able.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Sunday and Monday are fine for mellow times. Being around cheerful friends lifts you.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Adjusting to others' expectations takes much of your time the first two days of the week. Enjoy a brighter mental attitude.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) See life from your partner's perspective; be willing to compromise. Responsibilities could interfere with your social life.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Give service even if you don't feel inspired. You have to do more than your share to keep partnerships.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) More pleasure and fun for you this week. Take care of routine; force no major decisions.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Be sure of domestic conditions at the start of the week. You might need to help someone.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) Traveling is a good way to start out the week. Troublesome domestic conditions may weigh heavily on your mind.

If You Were Born This Week
Happy Birthday Libral In November your finances go through a major rebirth, but watch out for credit card debts!

Officials ponder proposal on wetlands ordinance

by PAM NASLUND
Lakeland Newspapers

About 300 people crowded the room at Brac Loch Country Club in Grayslake for a public hearing on the Lake County Health Dept.'s proposed ordinance to regulate wetlands. Developers, private landowners, conservation groups and municipalities were represented, each offering their comments for and against the draft ordinance.

Steve Moyland, assistant director of the Lake County division of environmental health, outlined the ordinance's provisions for the group. In his preparatory remarks he stated that the ordinance was unclear in regard to the authority of local municipalities to enact their own wetlands regulations. Moyland believes this can be remedied by revision to the ordinance. Any municipality would be able to enact their own program, provided it is "as stringent or more stringent" than the county proposal.

Michael Doren, president of the Home Builders Assn. of Lake County, presented an opinion for its members that the ordinance would duplicate regulations already in place by the Army Corps of Engineers, add another layer of bureaucracy to development, and that the health department is not the proper agency to administer wetlands. Johnine Brown, head of the environmental group for the law firm of Rudnick & Wolfe, also spoke on behalf of the Home Builder's Assn., stating that the ordinance's provisions are too vague and may not stand up to a constitutional challenge.

Aquatic ecologist and environmental consultant Dr. Sander Sundberg of Ingleside supported the draft ordinance as "the most important piece of environmental legislation that could be adopted at this time," requesting only that the ordinance preclude destruction or removal of wetlands plants in addition to its other provisions. Joseph Faul, Wauconda Twp. trustee and former member of the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals, agreed that the ordinance is indeed needed, with clearer and stronger terms. Referring to development at Rtes. 12 and 22, Faul questioned whether "mitigation" (artificial relocation) can compensate for losses of areas of wetlands to building.

The Lake County Municipal League, represented by former Libertyville Mayor Paul Neal, objected to the proposed ordinance, echoing the concern of other municipal representatives, including Zion, Antioch, Lake Barrington and Beach Park, that the ordinance would usurp the authority of local governments to control the areas within their boundaries. Long Grove supports the ordinance with reservations.

When questioned afterward as to whether wetlands management belonged in the health department, Robert Whyte, also of the Lake County Health Dept., responded that the department was the only agency within county government that employs the qualified biologists and water quality experts necessary to oversee the program. He added that the ordinance was modeled after the Goemaere-Anderson Act of 1989 in Michigan, considered one of the leading states in the country in wetlands protection. Colin Thacker, director of the environmental health division, estimated that at least two or three weeks will be required to revise the draft, incorporating public comment, before submitting it to the Lake County Board.

Sequoits spikers pointing towards regional crown

Antioch and Round Lake have two things in common heading into the girls volleyball regional tournament at Antioch Oct. 24.

Both teams have won nods as the teams to beat. And not coincidentally, the two teams are seeded first and second. Hoping to knock them off are Grayslake and Grant, two teams which have played the top two respectfully this fall.

"If Antioch and Round Lake get into the regional final, Round Lake should win because of its offense. Antioch is OK but not as offensive as Round Lake," Grant Coach Sue Richardson said.

"Antioch has been more consistent than the three of us," Round Lake Coach Brian Brown said.

The teams, at any rate, should be familiar with one another. Grayslake lost to Grant in the first round, then split with Round Lake. Antioch beat Grant in an early match and is 1-0-1 against Round Lake.

Grant started the final week of the regular season with a 9-13 record, 5-7 in Northwest Suburban Conference play. Coach Richardson said she expects the squad to give the Panthers a battle.

One key for Grant could be the status of senior setter Kim Garvey. Garvey is at the top of the Grant statistics in aces, serving points and dinks. She was injured for the Round Lake and Marengo matches and Grant lost both those in two, dropping below .500 in league play.

"She could have played on the varsity as a sophomore but we wanted to keep that group together. She's been a good, all-around player since her freshman year," Richardson said of Garvey.

Two summers of camp volleyball have sharpened Garvey's skills.

Round Lake thumped Grant 15-4, 15-4, but then lost to Grayslake in three games two days later. After losing the first game 15-4, Round Lake won the second 15-10 but lost the third 15-5.

"I think what happened to Grant against us happened to us against Grayslake," Brown said.

The Rams successfully used a unique lineup change against the Panthers. Coach Tom McNamara played seniors in game one, juniors in game two and seniors in the third and deciding game.

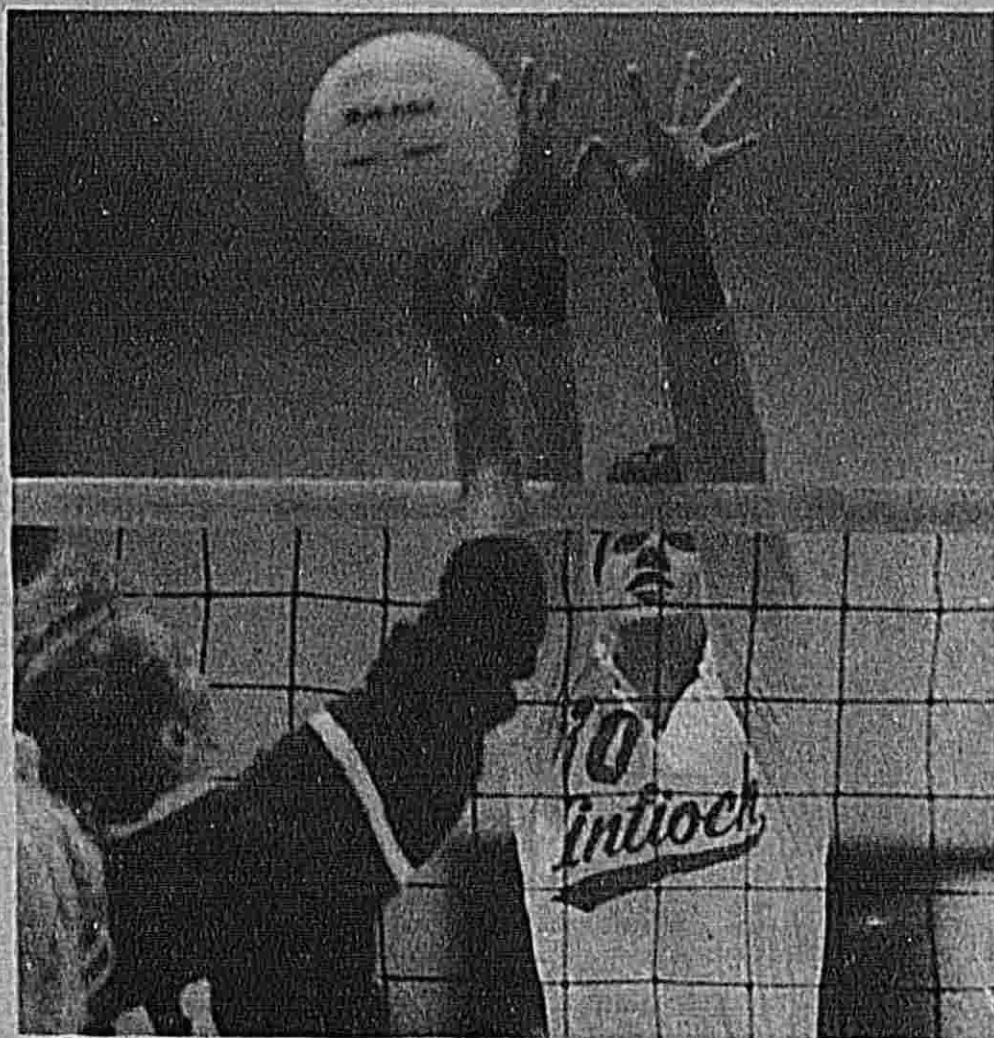

In the Grant match, Brown said his team's efforts were led by front row hitters Cyndie Donner and Jean Kaczmaryn.

Kerry Scharfenorth leads Round Lake in service points.

Round Lake was 13-10-1, 9-3 heading into the final week.

"Our goal was to win the conference and the regional," Antioch Coach Carla Thompson said.

The Sequoits, who finished in ninth place the last two years, have become the Baltimore Orioles of girls volleyball, finished with a 7-2 North Suburban Conference mark.

One-on-one battle

Antioch aims to sour Stevenson Homecoming

Antioch will be trying to keep its football playoff hopes alive when the Sequoits travel to Prairie View to battle Stevenson in the Patriots' Homecoming.

The Oct. 20 clash is a rare Friday night game for Antioch and the 7:30 p.m. clash will feature one team hoping to secure a playoff berth in the Patriots, who are coming off of a final play TD win over Zion-Benton.

Antioch's Glenn Graham, meanwhile, will be hard pressed to duplicate his performance against the Pats. Graham rushed for 247 yards and scored the clinch touchdown on a 51-yard run in the fourth quarter for a 16-8 win.

"He's become more patient. He knows that sooner or later something will break for him," Antioch Coach Del Pechauer said.

Antioch took advantage of early Warren miscues in the first half for a 9-0 lead.

Antioch's consistent kicker, Dan Pappadakis, booted a 24-yard field goal before Warren's problems started to mount.

A fumble on the ensuing kickoff gave the home team, celebrating its 75th Homecoming, the ball at the Warren 14. QB Rick Beattie snuck over from the one.

The hometown fans were not pleased at the final play before halftime. Warren's Jeff Ray and Paul McKissick teamed up to bring the Blue Devils to within a point. Ray blocked a field goal and McKissick, a running back on offense, took off and ran 75 yards untouched. Antioch stopped Buck Phillips all day, but could not on the two-point conversion try.

After a scoreless third quarter, Graham took matters into his own hands with the 51 yard jaunt.

Antioch, 4-3, will be up against Stevenson running back Tom Wang. Wang scored a touchdown which tied the game against the Zee-Bees. Zion's Homecoming was spoiled as Stevenson defender Judd Zusel's 13 yard TD interception on the game's final play.

The win improved the Pats to 5-2 and into a second-place tie with North Chicago.

"We have an outside shot," Pechauer said.

Kickers host regional

Antioch's boys soccer team will be hoping the home field advantage will work to the Sequoits liking when they begin post-season play Oct. 21.

The Sequoits will play the winner of the Woodstock-Johnsburg contest. The top seed for the regional, the Sequoits have won seven of eight matches at Pauley Field and tied another. "It will be nice to play at home because each field is different," Antioch Coach Charles Trout said.

Leading Antioch will be striker-center forward Mike Denman, center halfback Craig Hanrahan and Jason Masek. The match will begin at 10 a.m.

The Antioch goalie situation could be a question mark heading into the regional. Starting goalie John Schulz was injured against the Wildcats with a deep bone bruise on a leg. Trout said Schulz was playing well until the injury in a match against Libertyville in the double elimination North Suburban Conference tournament.

The Sequoits were 12-3-2 heading into a second-round NSC journey game.

Antioch and the Wildcats played to a 0-0 tie one week before the conference journey, and things looked up for the visitors when Masek scored on a breakaway with 10 minutes left in the second quarter.

But soon after the injury, Libertyville tied the game on a penalty kick and added another goal in the third quarter.

"It was a hard fought game," Trout said.

Libertyville had 16 shots on goal to Antioch's nine.

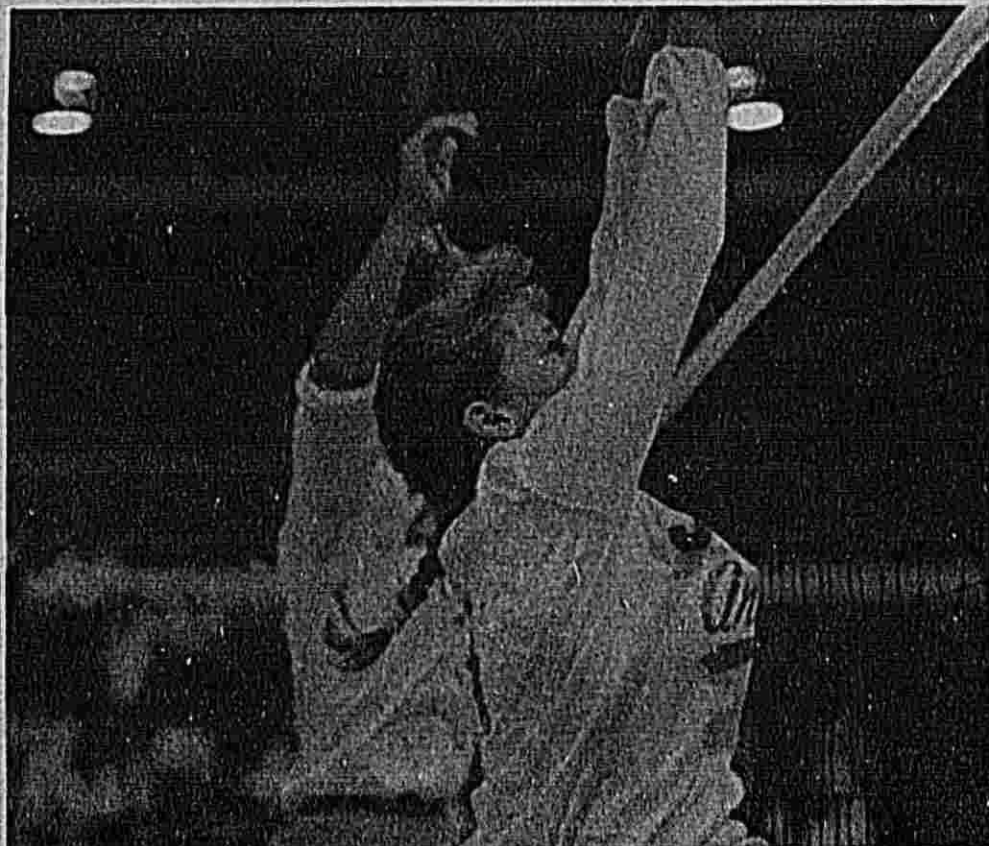

If Antioch gets past the first regional game, it would host the regional final Halloween Eve Oct. 30.

Pavelski, a 5-11 junior, plays as a hitter for fourth-year Spartan Coach Brenda Hillman. The Spartans currently won a 20-8 overall record this season and are 4-0 to start Northern Illinois Intercollegiate Conference play. The Spartans placed second at the 16 team Illinois Benedictine College tournament.

The Spartans were 19-11 overall with a 6-2 record in the NIIC.

Pavelski, a physical education major, is a resident of Lake Villa.

Vikings looking for healthy end to season

As far as Lake County Vikings football Coach Al Clark is concerned, there are three rules to live by.

Those rules include: be on time, don't show disrespect on the field or practices and finally, no game is worth a player's health.

Rule No. 3 came into effect Saturday as the Vikings clashed with Milwaukee with a certain playoff berth on the line. The Vikings started out strong, with a 12-0 lead at halftime as the home team struggled at Brown Deer High School.

"No game is worth a player's health," Clark said after a 19-18 loss to Milwaukee.

The game was the second close contest between the two Midwest Football League teams this season. The Express, now 5-4, won 3-0 in North Chicago.

Kicker Chris Friedrichs kicked two first half field goals of 38 and 33 yards to give the visitors a 6-0 lead. But he was later hit in the back and did not play the second half.

The Vikings, 2-4, now are looking to end the maiden semi-pro season on a bright note with a game at Orland Park Oct. 21.

For Milwaukee, the win came after two straight losses in a uniform style the team is not used to. The squad donned the familiar black jerseys once again for the game against the Vikings. "We gave up 110 points in the white jerseys," Coach Curley Harris said.

Another change which helped the home team was at quarterback. Lake County picked off four passes in the first half against the Express' Kevin Grossedhne but Tony Doss came in and directed an effective offense in the second half.

After Lake County lineman Roger Ivey returned a fumble for a TD and a 12-0 lead, the Express got the second-half breaks.

Arnstor Bates scored Milwaukee's first touchdown, a 60 yard run on a punt fake. The extra point try was no good.

Milwaukee's Earl Anderson then set up the go-ahead score with a fumble recovery at the Lake County 18. Brad Schueneman, the Milwaukee workhorse, all night out of the backfield, tied the game with a three yard run with 7:27 left in the third quarter.

Eighth week may cut some playoff hopefuls

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Now, there are six. With two weeks remaining in the regular season, six Lakeland teams still have a shot - of various degrees, of making the playoffs. The closest team to having it locked up is Libertyville with six wins.

Last week marked the second perfect week this fall for the predictor with a five-for-five week improved the season record to 31-13.

Wauconda was eliminated by surprising Grayslake for playoff contention, but the other squads remained alive.

A look at this week's

Friday night contests:

Antioch (4-3) at Stevenson (5-2), 7:30 p.m.; the Patriots could knock the Sequoias out of playoff contention with a win. Stevenson is coming off a last-play win over Zion-Benton and must guard against a Homecoming letdown. Tom Wang keys the offense while Glenn Graham, Antioch's star back, is coming off his best game. Prediction: Stevenson by three.

Grayslake (5-2, 3-2) at Lake Zurich (5-2, 3-2), 7:30 p.m.; all eyes in the Northwest Suburban Conference will be focused on this one as the two squads battle it out for a playoff bid. Lake Zurich is led by a defense which has shutdown the opposition two straight weeks. Grayslake is led by junior QB Tom Culhane and a talented crop of underclassmen which compliment Mike Duchane's running abilities. But the Bears have size on their side and experience, so it's the home team by three.

Carmel (5-2, 3-2) at Marist (1-6, 1-4), 7:30 p.m.; Carmel is looking for a repeat of its 44-point outburst against St. Viator. Coach Mike Fitzgibbons will be looking for an improved defensive show, which surrendered 29 points to the last-place Lions. Prediction, Carmel by 10.

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By
Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: Is there a relationship between diabetes and vision problems?

ANSWER: Yes, adults and children with diabetes often suffer from vision problems and should have their eyes examined regularly. Diabetes can cause a weakening of the blood vessels that nourish the retina in the back of the eye. The retina is where light coming through the eye is focused.

These blood vessels may leak blood or fluid or develop fragile "branches." As this process continues, it scars the retina, and vision may become blurred. In severe cases, blindness can occur.

In some cases, vision damage is slight and no treatment is necessary. In other instances, laser surgery or other surgical procedures are recommended to halt vision deterioration and in some cases improve vision.

Former detective Mason bids for Grinnell's job

Charging corruption in the Lake County Sheriff's Dept., Don Mason is challenging Sheriff Grinnell for the Republican nomination.

Mason announced his candidacy Monday at the Gurnee Holiday Inn along with William Harder.

Mason sought the office in 1982, coming within four percentage points of beating then Sheriff Mickey Babcox. He did not run in 1982.

The hopeful said he would not disclose details of the corruption until he appears before a police merit commission Oct. 23. He will later be making specific policy statements as the campaign progresses.

"Politics was all new to me in 1986. This time I will gather all my petitions and look them over," Mason said.

Mason joined the Sheriff's department shortly after being honorably discharged from the Marine Corps in 1969, serving in Vietnam. He worked for the department for 10 years in various capacities as traffic investigator, highway patrolman, bailiff and civil process server. He attained the rank of detective in 1976.

He also worked in the records division, in communications, work release program, warrants division and in the jail division.

He said he "always has been a strong advocate of through police training. Besides the basic law enforcement training I acquired additional training for police administration, criminal investigations and evidence procedure along with training as a breathalyzer operator in the fight against drunk drivers". He was trained at the University of Illinois, College of Lake County and Illinois State Police Academy.

Mason explained he helped organize the deputies to fight for the "only system they have to stop politics in the police department," - the merit commission.

Mason said he has worked with Harder as detectives. "We have experienced many of the same obstacles and political corruption in and outside of the Sheriff's Dept. We have pledged to work together in correcting these problems and create the environment necessary for all Lake County personnel to just do their jobs," he stated.

He addressed many concerns at the press conference, ranging from traffic gridlock to dead animals in the roadway.

"The power of the Sheriff's office can be used for many things including the safety of the citizens of Lake County," he said.

Regarding gang crime, Mason said he "does not want to cross over municipal lines but enhance police relations," Mason said.

He said his candidacy has received support among the deputies, but does not want the deputies actively campaigning for him.

L.V. Methodist Church celebrates 125th

Members of the congregation of the Lake Villa United Methodist Church will be celebrating a rich heritage this Sunday, as they observe their 125th Anniversary.

Currently an active congregation with more than 300 members, the church had its first pastor, Rev. John H. Thomas, appointed in 1864. Up until that time, ministers traveling on horseback, known as 'Circuit Riders' served the congregations that existed in the northern Illinois area. They would visit the various communities several times a year, meeting in homes or school-houses.

The sole congregation in the Lake Villa area at that time, the church has been located at various sites over the years. On Dec. 16, 1858, the "Parsonage Trustees of Lake Circuit, Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church" bought an acre of land for $30 on the north shore of Sand Lake.

The following year a parsonage was built to house the circuit riders and became a center of religious and social activities for the community. Then on May 15, 1876, at a meeting held in the Angola Schoolhouse, across the road from Angola Cemetery, a set of trustees was elected and formed 'The First Methodist Episcopal Church of the town of Avon.'

Mr. L. C. Manzer donated an acre of land on Rte. 83, about a mile south of Sherwood's Corners (Rte. 83 & 132) and a church building was completed late that fall. The dedication of 'Centennial Church' was held on Thursday, Dec. 14, 1876. That site proved not to be permanent. The town of Lake Villa came into being, and, in 1892, the building was torn down and rebuilt at the intersection of Cedar Ave. and Rte. 83 in Lake Villa. The 'Church on the Hill,' as it was referred to, still stands today and is used as a private residence.

During the area's rapid population growth of the 1950's, two church services became necessary to serve the expanding congregation. The Sunday School was meeting in the church an parsonage basements and in classrooms of the nearby grade school. The need for larger facilities became apparent and the present site on McKinley Ave. was purchased in 1956.

A special one and a half hour worship service and program will be held this

Sunday, Oct. 22 at 11 a.m., followed by a church dinner and viewing of a film that was made back in the 1930's showing the Lake Villa community at this time.

Dist. 117 to hold forum

The Antioch Education Assn. is sponsoring a Candidate's Night for board of education seekers on the Nov. 7 ballot. The event, scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m., will be moderated by William Thompson, former regional superintendent of schools in Lake County.

There are six candidates vying for the Dist. 117 Board of Education with only four seats open. Incumbents include Glenn Moore and Tom Fisher.

Students learn to express opinion

Aware of her students' concerns with the world around them, Millburn School's Barbara Phillips decided to teach the students a method of getting adults to acknowledge their views.

Phillips, Advanced Instruction at Millburn (A.I.M.) coordinator, spent a week teaching her seventh- and eighth-grade reading classes biased and opinion writing.

Using examples from local newspapers, Phillips introduced the group to editorial writing and showed how a letter to the editor can effectively express a person's viewpoint. Phillips required the students to write letters to the editor about issues on which they had strong opinions.

Phillips said she gave the "definite requirement" that the letters must first state the concern, then offer a solution. She promised to send the letters to the papers if their work was quality.

"In looking over these letters, I was very proud of my students and pleased to see a genuine concern on their part. They worked hard to express their thoughts in a mature way," Phillips said.

The following letters are a sample of the fine work written by Millburn students.

Littering

Editor:
I am writing to you about an event I witnessed a couple of days ago.

I was riding back from the Lindenhurst Plaza on my bike. I was stopped at a stop sign when a police man pulled up right next to me.

The window of the police car was rolled down and out was thrown a McDonalds bag filled to the brim with garbage. The window was then rolled up and the police car drove away without a concern for what he had just done.

This thoroughly disgusted me. Here we have a public figure who's job is to uphold the law but he himself just broke it.

Are police officers starting to think they are above the law? When actually they should follow the law like everyone else.

I realize the act of one police officer doesn't hold true for all police officers. Just like the act of one teenager doesn't hold true for all teenagers. The respect I had for police officers has gone down because of this act.

Chris Morse

War on Drugs

Editor:
Regarding the War on Drugs, I would like to express my feeling son mandatory drug testing for students.

I just don't feel that it is right. If a kids has violent behavior or starts behaving strangely, they should be tested. But if a regular kid behaves properly he or she should not be tested for drugs.

During World War II Japanese people living in the United States were uprooted and forced to live in restricted areas. They were considered 'The Enemies.' Years later the Government realized their mistake.

Let's not suspect all students of drug abuse. Those who show a change in behavior, a sudden drop in grades, should be talked to, and then perhaps be tested for drugs or alcohol abuse.

Adam Miller

Library budget

Editor:
On Nov. 7, a very important issue is going to be voted on by our community. This is a matter of increasing the Lake Villa Library Budget.

Last spring, there was a tax referendum. Since it didn't pass, the library has had to cut down on book budgets and the hours the library is open.

Being a student, I know how important it is for the library to have a variety of books. I have been using this library since before I started school. I went to story hours and reading programs.

A growing community like ours must have a good library. Now in 7th grade, I use the library not only for leisure, but for studying. Also, being closed on weekends doesn't give people much time to use its facilities. Many kids have after school activities, and they don't have any time to use for studying except for the weekends.

I urge the adults of our community to support the library tax increase so they

and the younger generation can enjoy it and learn from it.

Be there

With just two weeks until Halloween, the ghosts, ghouls and the goblins are getting ready to fly. The black cats are polishing their fur, and witches everywhere are tuning up their brooms.

Area haunted houses are starting to open in honor of the season of horror.

In Grayslake, the park district will offer a ghost walk in the haunted woods at Grayslake Junior High, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., on Tuesday, Oct. 31. The walk is for kids up to age 12.

"The best haunted house in Lake County," according to those involved, can be found in Wadsworth, off of Hwy. 41, left to Kelly Rd. and the Johnathan Apple Orchard. This nasty nest will be open seven days a week, from 6 to 11 p.m., until Oct. 31.

The McHenry Jaycees are presenting a haunted house at Knox Barn in McHenry, off of Rte. 31, just north of Bull Valley Rd. It will be open Oct. 20, 21, 22, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31. Weekday hours are from 7:30 to 10 p.m., Fridays until 11 p.m., Saturdays until midnight and Sundays from 7 to 10 p.m.

In the Kenosha area, Kemper Center will hold its eighth annual ghoulish gallery on Oct. 27 and 28, from 6-9 p.m.

The Lake Villa-Lindenhurst Jaycees have their haunted house open for the 15th year. This year, the Jaycees are promising a "truly scary haunted house, with lots of blood and gore to be found in rooms such as The Meat Market and Torture Chamber." Outside of Oct. 23 and 24, this horror-filled hacienda, located at Grand Ave. and Deep Lake Rd., will be open through Oct. 31, daily from 7 to 9 p.m. and until 11 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

Film Review

Mickey Rourke is the kind of actor one either loves or hates. His penchant for portraying off-beat, often scuzzy characters has not endeared him to older movie goers.

In "Johnny Handsome," Rourke comes across with one of his best acting jobs to date in his emotional portrayal of an ugly loser, nicknamed "Handsome," who undergoes plastic surgery that matches his face to his nickname.

Rourke is double-crossed by Ellen Barkin and friend in a holdup, wounded and caught.

He gets his new face when a prison doctor decides his grotesqueness is what led him to a life of crime.

Even with a new face, a new life and a new love, played by Elizabeth McGovern, there's still a lot of the old Johnny underneath who wants revenge on Barkin and company.

Rourke's acting is the brightest spot in flick that will pass for video rental prices but is substandard when it comes to high-priced first run tickets. Give it a 5 out of five stars.

They're 'Being Ernest'

Darrell Christopher, Chicago, left, explains to Joseph Holden of Waukegan the proper way to court a woman of means in a scene from Oscar Wilde's brilliant comedy 'The Importance of Being Ernest.' Directed by Mark Heller, Antioch, the play will be presented Fridays, Oct. 20, 27, at 7 p.m. at Goodfellow Hall, Jack Benny Center for the Arts, Waukegan. Call (312)244-1660 for information.

CLC to host season's 1st concert

Robert Kaminskas, music director and conductor of the Acanthus Chamber Orchestra, will conduct the North Suburban Symphony's first concert of the season on Sunday, Oct. 22, at the College of Lake County auditorium in Grayslake.

The program begins at 4 p.m., and admission is $7 for adults and $5 for students and seniors.

The symphony will perform Beethoven's "Leonore No. 3 Overture;" Rimsky-Korsakov's "Capriccio Espagnol;" and Dvorak's "Symphony No. 5 from the New World."

Kaminskas conducted the premiere performance of the orchestra in October, 1988, and has appeared as guest conductor with the Orchestra of Illinois, the Grant Park Symphony and the Lakeshore Opera. He has been appointed music director of Sanibel Festival, a four-week festival in Sanibel, Fla.

The North Suburban Symphony, a community orchestra of volunteer musicians from the Chicagoland area, was formed last year to provide performance opportunities for amateur musicians and affordable concerts to the public. The symphony is affiliated with the College of Lake County and Lake Forest College.

Future concerts this season will feature conductors Victor Yampolsky, formerly with the Moscow Symphony and now on the faculty of Northwestern University; Dale Clevenger with clarinet soloist Larry Combs, both of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; and the return of Robert Kaminskas to conduct the final concert in April. Season tickets are $25 for adults and $17 for students and seniors.

For tickets, call CLC's activities office at (312)223-6601, ext. 300.

Symphony opens season

The Lake Forest Symphony's 1989-90 season will open on Oct. 27 and 28 with guest artist, Jose Feghali, piano. Feghali returns by popular demand for a second appearance with the symphony and will perform the "Piano Concerto No. 2" by Rachmaninoff.

Maestro Paul Anthony McRae, in his third season as the orchestra's music director, will feature the Lake Forest Symphony in two selections: the Jubel Overture by Weber, and the suite from Belkis, Queen of Sheba, by Respighi. The concerts begin at 8 p.m.

Store to feature Belcari sculpture

The Glass Impression announces that on Tuesday, Oct. 24 from 4 to 8 p.m., Auro Belcari will be in the store to sign collectors pieces. Bring prized pieces of his work to be signed. A good supply will be in the store for those who would like to purchase and start their collection. These will be signed by Belcari also.

In the tradition of many famous Italian artists before him, Belcari was born and raised in the Tuscany region of Italy.

Belcari's artistic training began as a child when he would amuse himself by modelling figures from raw clay. His talents developed and he secured a coveted position as an artisan producing Alabaster sculptures.

Over the years, Belcari has produced many fine works of art that are found in collections throughout the world.

Sculptures by Belcari are collected in over 50 countries and are prized for Belcari's ability to weave intricate details into his works of art. Also Belcari's use of matte and glazed finishes on the same piece create a very interesting effect. Each piece is a masterpiece of workmanship.

$25,000 awarded in AHSA/Miller's Contest

Some of the best dressage horses and riders in the U.S. competed for top honors at the AHSA/Miller's U.S. Dressage Championships, Central States, at Tempel Farms, Wadsworth.

Sponsored for the second year in a row by Miller's James Co., E. Rutherford, N.J., these championships are considered by many to be one of the most coveted dressage titles in the country.

Championships were contested in 15 divisions, including the exciting Musical Freestyles, where horse and rider perform demanding dressage movements to music.

Included as well were championships for junior and young riders (under the age of 21), who had the opportunity to ride against their peers in the first through fourth levels. AHSA/Miller's U.S. Dressage Championships will also be named at competitions in Costa Mesa, Calif. and Lexington.

Notable winners included many Illinois residents, such as Jerry Schwartz (Beecher) on Piconne, who took the championship in one of the most difficult classes, Intermediate II, and was a close second in the Grand Prix, to Sandi Cholany, of Wayne, and her Ambiance.

Barrington resident Natalie Lamping on Abenteurer took the championship at Third Level as well as the Fourth Level Musical Freestyle; she and her mount also took second place at Third Level.

Kathy Adams, an Arizona native, and her horse, Zanger, took the championship at the demanding Prix St. George and Fourth Level. Adams, who describes Zanger as a horse that "knows when it counts," was last year's Third Level champion, again with Zanger.

The training system known as dressage (french for "training") is a meticulous and demanding one. The long years of development, tested at the progressively more difficult competition levels, result in a horse that is exceptionally supple and strong and which is willingly obedient to the demands of its rider. The eight to 10 years of training is a distinct contrast to the race horse, which usually reaches the peak of its competitive life in two to three years.

The AHSA/Miller's U.S. Dressage Championships

are operated in accordance with the American Horse Shows Assn., the National Equestrian Federation of the United States and a Group "A" member of the United States Olympic Committee.
